SAW POSSIBILITIES

Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.
YORK, Dec. 1.—The
an business man and capitalist has looked upon the government of Russia with just not uncommonly to Big and who thereby has
the contacts which would millions into the development of the almost unlimited and virgin resources of Russia. He has been overcome by some promising opportunities.
One of former St. Louisans who accepted the general opinion of the Soviet Union, and who had the vision what might be done
there, is Herbert Walker, of St. Louis, who is now in Russia, where he is making a mining concession.
In the 20 years of the country, he is expected to yield $400,- 000,000 worth of manganese and iron ore, and at least $100,- 000,000 to the company they are to handle it.
Walker is president of the operation of the Georgia manganese fields to American industrial and the formation of the company, have been published in items of business news.
Post-Dispatch correspondent to obtain the details of the concession, and the New York office of W. A. Harriman & which several St. Louisans control.

The Leading Figures.
Walker appears to have been
G. Herbert Walker, St.
broker, who is president of Harriman & Co. of New York, and the perseverance that of Elliott, formerly connected with Compton & Co. of St.
Louis, and more recently with the Harriman Co. of New York.
The presidency of the Georgia manganese Co., Ltd., formed to exploit the huge concession, is held by L. Holman, formerly manager of the Laclede Gas Light Co. of St. Louis and in that position he directing head of the organization.

Walker Saw Possibilities.
In 1924, Walker perceived
the possibilities of an agreement between the company operating the manganese mines in Russia, which the rights to sell the iron ore of the mine in American hands would be obtained on basis of a division of the profits
between the Russian company and an American selling company would be organized.
Walker is expected to look into the survey what might be done along the line they have in mind.

Georgia manganese field is the most and most cheaply mined world. The amount of man-gane in the field is unknown, but estimates ever placed on geologists and engineers has 0,000,000 tons. The only large fields in Brazil and on the Gold Coast of Africa. The Bethlehem Steel fields in Brazil and England are the others.

Walker, thoroughly informed by geologists' reports, knew that Georgia field the manganese
was a blanket, while in other fields it was in pockets. This meant mining than in the other and a virtual monopoly to company controlling the Russian output, which was estimated sufficient to supply the world demand for a half century and which could be produced
at a cost which would meet the demand.
Walker, it may be here explained, is an essential element in the manufacture of steel and has rather general use in various other industries.

DEFENSE LAWYER FIGHTS TO UNSEAT MITCHELL JUDGE

Challenges Maj.-Gen.
Graves on Grounds of Interference and Bias, and Is Overruled.

HOWZE GIVES WARNING TO BOTH

Tribunal Recuses to Consider Case — Clash Follows "Damn Rot"
Dispute With Gen. King.

St. Louis, Dec. 1.—Counsel for William Mitchell failed to make a spectacular attempt to unseat Major-General Mitchell
today in Federal court. Mitchell is a member of the Mitchell family. Major-General
Mitchell is a member of the Mitchell family.

After a consultation in secret the defense overruled defense charges that Gen. Graves had interfered with the cross-examination of prosecution witnesses and had displayed prejudice.

At first she said she had defended Mrs. Rhinelander against the charge, and then, when Mrs.
Rhinelander had admitted her
part in the blood, she complained,
she had become "the laughing
stock of Mount Vernon."

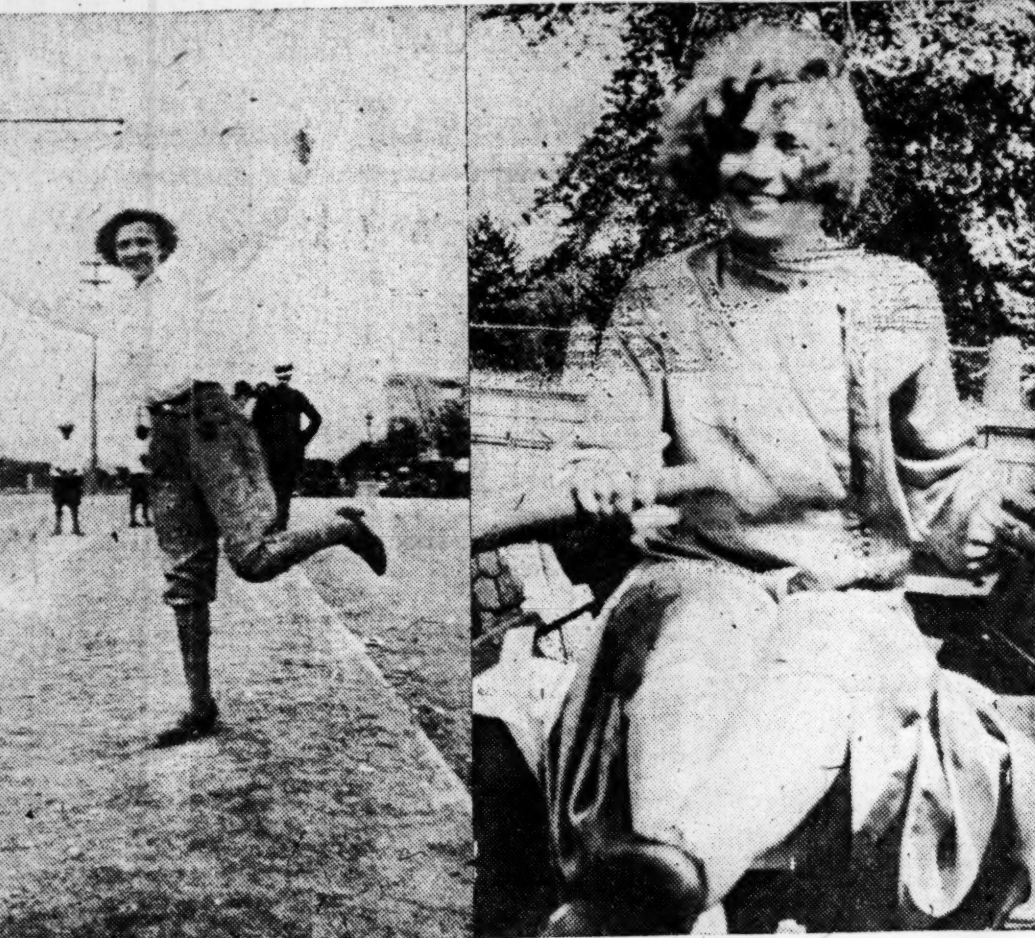

She stood up yesterday at Davis'
request, smiling uncertainly.
"I just happened to notice her sitting there," Davis explained to the jury, adding scornfully: "She loved this child, didn't want any harm to come to her; but, as in the gladiatorial days, she comes here with thumbs down and a desire to be in at the death. Think of the spirit that prompts her to come and sit here so she can be in at the death. I say to you, isn't it a tragic sight? O shame! And you sit there smiling."

Mrs. Rich sat down quietly.
Davis did not begin his summation until after the noon recess.
When court adjourned, he had been speaking three hours, and appeared not half through. He hoped last night to finish before the noon recess. Summation by Isaac N.
Mills, Rhinelander's counsel, which will follow, is expected to last over until tomorrow and may take up the greater part of the day, so that the case may not go to the jury
before Thursday.

As soon as Justice Morschauer and the jurors had taken their places, Davis recalled Mrs. Jones, Mrs. Rhinelander's mother, and explained he had forgotten to ask some questions, inquired if she had been present in the jury room when her daughter bared parts of her skin to the jury and Justice Morschauer. Mrs. Jones declared she had been present.
"Was the color of your daughter's skin the same as it was in 1922
and 1923 and 1924?" he asked.
"Certainly," was Mrs.
Jones' answer.

"Has it been the same since birth?" "Yes, the same since birth." Following her testimony, the defense rested.
Mills, plainly disconcerted, explained he had summoned the clerk of the court of special sessions in New York to appear as a witness and that the clerk had stood up on his legal right to demand 48 hours' notice. While further attempts were being made to induce the clerk to attend, Mills recalled Rhinelander and questioned him about the testimony, last Wednesday, of Ross Childster, former chauffeur for Rhinelander's father, Philip Rhinelander.

Two of 115 Pictures Presented to Refute Testimony

MISS ETHEL M. PROFFITT, in two of the 115 photographs presented in Federal Court today to refute her testimony that she was permanently injured when a passenger on a Chicago & Alton train. At the left Miss Proffitt is shown doing a dance step at Forest Park Highlands, and at the right rowing a boat on the lagoon in Forest Park. These pictures were made by a man who struck up an acquaintance with her after her suit was filed, and who it was related today was a detective employed by the railroad.

Open Hearings Assailed In Rhinelander Case

Joseph Rich, wife of a furniture
dealer of Mount Vernon, N. Y., who was in the front row of spectators.

Mrs. Rich, called several days ago as a witness for Rhinelander, voluntarily told how she and her husband had first welcomed the friendship of Rhinelander and his wife as a chance to get into society, and how she, had turned against Mrs. Rhinelander only after she discovered she was part negro.

At first she said she had defend-
ed Mrs. Rhinelander against the
charge, and then, when Mrs.

$7,150,000 IN CASH TO BE GIVEN EX-KAISER

180,000 Acres of Land and 4 Palaces Also to Be Restored to Former Ruler.

By the Associated Press.
BERLIN, Dec. 1.—Former Emperor William is to receive from the Prussian State a goodly amount of his holdings, which were sequestered when the monarchy fell and William went into exile in Holland.

It has been decided by the Prussian Ministry of Finance that it will meet the claims of the ex-Kaiser for restoration by giving him about $7,150,000 in cash, 180, 000 acres of forests and agricultural land, three palaces in Berlin and one in Babelsberg, and in addition some house property in the capital.

The two "crown castles" with their historical furniture and gardens, the crown jewels and various works of art; the Hohenzollern library, the former royal theaters and their endowments, lands and forests and house property in Berlin and Potsdam and the revenue
from the crown estates will be returned by the Prussian State. The Prussian Ministry of Finance estimates that the cash to be given William is the equivalent of the value of the land and forests and house property now reverting to the State.

The proffer was made in order to stop litigation which has been going on for some time. The former Emperor has won most of the actions brought by him for restoration of property, and Prussia thought it wise to make an agreement on the present basis.

Asked About Father.
"Where is Mr. Philip Rhinelander?" Davis again and again, as he sought to impress upon the jurors
the inference that the reason Rhinelander's father had not appeared as a witness was because he had known all about his son's wife two years before the marriage.
"Where is there anybody to account for his absence in his son's information did he get which led him to the Marie Antoinette?" Of course he knew who the boy was with and knew all about her two years before the marriage. Where is Mr. Bowers?"

Before he started upon his summation, Davis consented to Mills
introducing a record he had obtained from the Court of Special Sessions and concerning which he had wished the clerk of the court to testify. This record was the surprise Mills had intimated he would have regarding Childster, and showed that on Dec. 12, 1923, Childster had been convicted of being the father of an illegitimate child
and had paid its mother $4 a week
for its support until it was adopted.

A motion to dismiss the Rhinelander suit on the ground that Rhinelander's counsel had failed to make a case was made by Davis preliminary to his summing up, announced by Justice Morschauer.
A motion by Davis to strike out all allegations that Mrs. Rhinelander misrepresented her color after her marriage to Rhinelander was likewise denied, but Justice Morschauer explained that such post-marital representations, if any, were to be considered by a jury only as tending to show the general intent of Mrs. Rhinelander to deceive her husband before their marriage.

DETECTIVE'S PICTURES EXHIBITED IN SUIT

Woman, Suing Railroad, Shown on Horse and Canoe-ing—Accepts Non Suit.

"An awful jolt," was the way
Miss Ethel M. Proffitt described the sudden stopping of a train, in her suit against the Chicago & Alton Railroad, in Federal Court today.
She related that the abrupt stop, at Springfield, Ill., June 29, 1924, threw her to the floor of a chair
car and inflicted injuries to her spine, for which she sought $65,000 damages.

A new "jolt" of a different sort occurred in the court room, when the lawyer for the railroad began showing Miss Proffitt a collection of photographs of herself, taken between last April and September, while her suit was pending. There were 115 of the pictures, and some of them showed the young woman
in bathing costume, some canoeing, some running or dancing, and on horseback.

Not until the case ended with a nonsuit, taken by Miss Proffitt's lawyers at Judge Farris' advice, was it made known that the young man who took the pictures, and who made himself very agreeable to Miss Proffitt last summer, was James Smith, a detective in the employ of the railroad company. Her attorneys were Charles P. Noel, J. O.
Block and Phil Pollock.

A Chance Acquaintance.
Miss Proffitt admitted she posed for the pictures, but said she had not been so active physically as the pictures would indicate, and that the poses were suggested by the young man who took her on the various outings, and who, she had noticed, always took his camera along.

She said the young man had struck up an acquaintance with her while she was employed in a department store last spring. He made several purchases at her counter, she said, and invited her to go out with him several times before she consented to go. After that, he took her out on Sundays and holidays.

"But I didn't really ride horseback," she said. "I just posed on a horse's back when he asked me to."

Asked About Horse.
"Didn't you get a horse from a livery stable to ride through the park?" the lawyer asked, "and didn't you particularly ask for a horse with some pep?" The young woman denied this. She also denied having rented an automobile,
to drive herself.

After witnesses to the accident,
and medical witnesses, had testified, the railroad's counsel presented a demurrer, and Judge Farris said he would have to sustain the demurrer, unless the young woman's lawyer wished to take a non-suit, which they did. The judge's ground was that the abrupt nature of the train's stop had not been proved.

"I will not discuss other reasons," he added.

ST. LOUIS TRAIN KILLS NINE PERSONS IN AUTO

Child Is Only Survivor of Two Families at Blytheville, Ark.

By the Associated Press.
BLYTHEVILLE, Ark., Dec. 1.—
Nine persons were killed and one injured when St. Louis & San Francisco passenger train No. 501, bound from St. Louis to Memphis, struck an automobile in which the ten persons were riding at a crossing near here late yesterday. All the dead and the injured, a child, were members of the families of Clem
Oxford and his brother, Lawrence Oxford farmers.

The dead are Clem Oxford, 33
years old, a farmer, who was driving, his four children, and Lawrence Oxford, 30, his wife and two children. The children's ages ranged from 2 to 9 years.

The only occupant of the car
who escaped death, a child of Lawrence Oxford, was brought to a hospital here, where physicians said it probably would recover.

The accident occurred at Archilland, a flag station, where a side road, over which members of the two families were returning from a cotton field, crosses the railroad.
Clem Oxford came to Arkansas
about 10 years ago from Illinois.
Lawrence came here from Malden,
Mo., recently.

OWNER OF COAL COMPANY HELD UP BY FIVE IN AUTO

They Forced Him to Leave Car and Took $500 in Cash and $155 in Checks.

Five men in an automobile held up Joseph Baer, owner of the Baer
Coal and Moving Co., 1219 North Spring avenue, at Glasgow and Cass avenues, yesterday at noon, and stole $500 cash and $155 in checks.
Baer, who was driving, was driving toward his office when he was crowded to the curb and forced to alight. After robbing him, the men drove off. Baer said he recognized some of the robbers as men who had been loitering near his place of business recently and declared he could identify at least one of them.

HIS SORE FEET COST COMEDIAN HIS JOB

Also He Lost Suit for Contract Breach—He's Policeman Now.

If Adolf Hertel had not become afflicted with corns, German theater-goers in St. Louis might not have lost a popular singing comedian and the police force of Clayton might not have gained a jovial patrolman.

Corns were not mentioned in the contract which Hertel signed with the German Literary Society, calling for his services at $100 a month from October, 1922, to April, 1923. The contract merely provided that Hertel was to do his best as comedian and property man.

Hertel laughed his way through life until Feb. 19, 1923, when he was discharged by A. S. Burrow, who managed the society's stock company. Then Adolf became very matter-of-fact and sued for $500, alleging breach of contract. He lost today before Circuit Judge Falkenhainer.

Corns Bothered Him.
The lawyer for the society insisted that Hertel had not memorized certain parts. Hertel replied that he had fumbled his lines only once, and all the other members of the company likewise fumbled, as they had had only one day to rehearse.

The lawyer insisted that Hertel had neglected his duties as a property man, once interrupting a play because letters, telegrams and other props were not on the stage furniture when the actors reached for them. To which Hertel replied that he had been derelict only once,
and on this occasion he could not travel up and downstairs as required, because his corns were paining him.

Hertel, wearing the blue uniform and star that signifies he is one of Clayton's finest, admitted under questioning that he was popular with his audiences. His wife and several others corroborated him.

Benefit Disappointment.
At his first benefit performance,
he testified, the crowd was so large he expected to receive $300. He got $15 from Burrow. Hertel expected an even larger audience at his second benefit program, but was fired just before it took place.

Thus it is that Patrolman Hertel walks a beat at Clayton while another comedian entertains the German theater-goers at the Edison.

JUDGE GANTT ENTERS SUPREME COURT RACE

Mexico Jurist to Seek Nomination on Democratic Ticket.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
MEXICO, Mo., Dec. 1.—Judge Ernest S. Gantt, Circuit Judge of the Eleventh Circuit since March, 1916, former prosecuting attorney of Audrain County, prominent member of the Audrain County Bar and a resident of Mexico, today authorized announcement of his candidacy for Judge of the Supreme Court on the Democratic ticket at next year's primary.

Judge Gantt, whose announcement follows those of George R.
Ellison of Maryville and Mark A.
McGruder of Sedalia, is believed to be a strong contender for the party nomination, being located in the northeast part of the state, which is solidly Democratic. He is well known as a circuit judge to the entire bar of the state.

Born in Centerville, Mo., in 1867, Judge Gantt is a product of the public schools of the state and attended the University of Missouri.
Admitted to the bar in 1892, he was Mexico's city attorney from 1894 to 1898. Audrain County's prosecuting attorney from 1909 to 1914 and was engaged in the general practice of law in Audrain and surrounding counties for years.

Appointed first as circuit judge
by the then Gov. Elliott W. Major in 1916, he was elected to the office
without opposition at the November elections of that year. In 1922
he was again elected to the judge-
ship, proving himself an excellent vote getter by running well ahead of his ticket.

OPERA BARITONE FOUND DEAD WITH CURTAIN ABOUT HIS HEAD

Wilhelm Beck, 35, Suddenly Stricken While Waiting to Sing in "Herediade" in Chicago.

By the Associated Press.
CHICAGO, Dec. 1.—The curtain
was held and the audience waited between the first and second acts of "Herediade" at the Auditorium
last night while call boys went to summon Wilhelm Beck, baritone, to go on as Vitellius. He was found dead in his hotel room. An understudy sang his part.

Beck, a native of Hungary, but a naturalized American citizen, acquired a fortune after he joined the Chicago Civic Opera Co. in 1910. He planned to retire from the stage
when the World War came and he lost everything he owned in Hungary. Before coming to Chicago he had sung in New York, Paris, Vienna and Budapest. He was 55 years old.

A PROTEST AGAINST DANGER

ROLLS-ROYCE

SIXTY-FIVE miles an hour over an ordinary country road . . .
a nervous gentleman who never let his chauffeur drive over forty . . .
asleep on the back seat! Such is the Rolls-Royce feeling of security.

You can bring a Rolls-Royce to a dead stop from sixty miles an hour in the distance between two telegraph poles. You can hit the roughest roads, turn the sharpest corners, and still feel no unpleasant jolts, throws or alarming sideways. The silent, vibrationless engine whisks you along at 60 miles an hour with the same absence of effort as at moderate speeds. Brakes—springs—engine—all combine to make the Rolls-Royce the safest and most comfortable motor-car ever built.

Every mechanical part is guaranteed against failure for three years.
Such convincing proof of the durability of a Rolls-Royce shows you how profitable an investment in miles it is. Many owners have received more than 20 years of uninterrupted service.

We should be pleased to demonstrate the safety of comfortable miles
—which is Rolls-Royce—in a 100-mile trial trip, at any time, over roads of your own choosing.

SIDENER ASKS GAYER
TO CHANGE NOTATIONSRubber Stamp "Bound Over to Grand Jury" Wrong, He Explains.

Judge Gayer in the Court of Criminal Correction today, at the request of Circuit Attorney Sidener, directed the clerk to change his notation on informations sustained in that court to show that defendants were "bound over to the Circuit Court" instead of "bound over to the grand jury."

The request of Sidener resulted from the action of Circuit Judge Mix several days ago in directing the grand jury to investigate 11 cases in which defendants had been bound over, but in which the Circuit Attorney had not presented the evidence to the grand jury.

Sidener told Judge Gayer that the clerk was using a rubber stamp which contained an erroneous notation and that it should be changed. He said there was no provision of law for a defendant being bound over to a grand jury, and that it was within the discretion of the Circuit Attorney whether to present evidence in any case to the grand jury.

When asked his purpose, Circuit Attorney Sidener said he "wanted to stop all this quibbling." Since Judge Mix issued his instruction to the grand jury, which, because of lack of time did not consider the matter, Sidener has had several verbal encounters with him, the Judge having threatened on several occasions to fine Sidener for contempt and to have him ejected from court.

Four St. Louisans Make $100,000,000 Russian Deal

hardening steel since 1835. Its use was begun in America by Andrew Carnegie. There is plenty of manganese in the world, and while not a precious metal, it is a valuable one.

A Maze of Title Claims.

The Georgia field was discovered in 1878 and lies about 200 miles from Tiflis and approximately 100 miles from Poti, the Black Sea shipping port. The elevation of the field is 1400 feet, making possible gravity conveyance of the manganese from mine to ship.

There was a tangled mass of claims of title to the field, and the working out of this feature of the deal was not one of the least of the problems requiring patience, ingenuity and perseverance.

In the first development by French interests there was constructed a railroad from Tiflis to Poti, but the ore was hauled from the mines to Tiflis on donkeys and camels. German interests which came in 1904 built a narrow gauge railroad from the mines to Tiflis at a cost of $900,000 and paid for it the first year with the profits accruing from the decreased cost of transporting the ore.

Ownership of the property began, of course, with the peasants, who had obtained mining rights. Later many European and Eastern interests came in, including Armenians, Persians, Greeks, French, English and Germans, the big English steel companies getting into the field in 1907 and 1908.

The foreign interests, however, had their rights only for the sale of the ore in their own countries.

Ownership Split 400 Ways.

Ownership of the property was in more than 400 companies and individuals, virtually every nationality except American being represented. The history of the property was that virtually every European banking interest had attempted at one time or another to combine the ownerships and control of the output, but because of the conflicting national interests every attempt had failed.

The largest production ever known in the field was in 1913, the year before the beginning of the World War, and in that year virtually the entire output went to Germany, where it was presumably used in the manufacture of guns.

In 1914, when the Dardanelles were closed, the Germans were unable to obtain further shipments. Then Russia confiscated all German property, including German interests in the manganese fields. Later Germany took over the operation of the mines it previously had owned.

With the beginning of the Socialist government in Russia and the nationalization of property, former owners were re-established in their rights in the manganese field. These owners formed 25 operating companies, which in turn formed an export organization. With the advent of Lenin the Georgia fields again were nationalized and the government took 55 per cent of the stock of the export organization.

Conditions Changed Plan.

This organization functioned but earned little, if anything. It was with this export company that Walker at first saw the possibility of an advantageous partnership and it was with it that Elliott went to Russia to trade.

After a canvass of the situation it was apparent that little was to be gained from such a plan for the simple reason that under the methods of the Russian operation there would be no profits to divide. The opportunity for big profits lay in the installation of modern machinery and the application of American methods of mining. It then was decided by the American group to go into the proposition on a scale far greater than they had anticipated at the beginning of their plans.

Negotiations first were opened with the various owners and the Georgians in an effort to obtain ultimately a concession from the Soviet Government. They were not at all willing to deal but pleased that American financiers were taking an interest in the development of their country.

Little difficulty was encountered so long as his negotiations were confined to the officials of the Georgia Government, but after their approval was obtained and the negotiations were transferred to Moscow for approval by the Soviet Government, seemingly all of Europe combined against the deal.

Months of Negotiations.

The opposition of not only the official, but the banking interests of Germany, England and Holland was vigorous. Control of the manganese fields by American interests might mean that European Governments would be shut off from a supply of manganese at a time when such a supply might mean the preservation of their country. Guns cannot be made without manganese and wars cannot be fought without guns.

The negotiations were embarrassed by the fact that America has not officially recognized the Soviet Government and there was no American diplomatic representation to aid him in meeting the diplomats of the European countries.

It took 12 months to close the deal, but by the end of that time a concession to mine manganese in unlimited quantities for 20 years had been obtained. Foreign interests finally were satisfied by being taken into the company, 40 per cent of the stock being allotted to German, English and Dutch ownership. Sixty per cent of the stock was retained for American interests.

Under the terms of the concession the company within five years will rebuild the 28-mile railroad to the mines, will install modern loading facilities at Poti, will build a plant for washing the ore, and at the end of 20 years will give all the improvements to the Russian Government. Until these improvements are installed the company will pay the Government a royalty of $3 a ton on all manganese shipped, and after they are installed a royalty of $4 a ton.

At the time the concession was signed there was a payment to the Government of $1,000,000, which, however, will be deducted from the royalties due it. A bond of $1,000,000, guaranteeing the fulfillment of the contract, was given. Holman Heads Company.

Walker had been closely associated with Charles L. Holman in St. Louis and also in New York.

Woman of 75 says Kellogg's ALL-BRAN cleansed system of constipation's poison

Stop constipation and enjoy good health, keynote of letter.

If you suffer from constipation, there is good cheer for you in Mrs. Levy's words:

On my seventy-fifth birthday I take great pleasure in letting you know that it is due to Kellogg's ALL-BRAN that I am now enjoying good health. I was compelled to take an enema or cathartic every night. Since May, 1924, when a friend recommended Kellogg's ALL-BRAN, the poison in my system has been eliminated without the aid of purgatives. I heartily recommend Kellogg's ALL-BRAN to everyone afflicted with intestinal trouble.

Yours gratefully,
Mrs. Pauline Levy.
41 W. 33rd St., New York City.

Walker suggested him for president of the operating company and he was selected, unanimously. It is said, by the European as well as the American interests represented in the ownership. Holman will divide his time about evenly between Europe and America, and will go to Russia at least once each year.

$100,000,000 DEAL IN SOVIET RUSSIA BY FOUR ST. LOUIS-MEN

He has already installed a staff at the mines and operations have begun. This month, it was estimated by one of the directors of the company, 75,000 tons of manganese will be shipped. The world demand varies from 1,300,000 tons to 3,000,000 tons a year. At present prices manganese has a sale value of $18 to $20 a ton. In 20 years, even on the basis of present demand, the company expects to ship about 20,000,000 tons, which will mean about $400,000,000, of which the profit is expected to be at least $100,000,000.

Many things might happen to increase the price, particularly with one company in control of the biggest field in the world. Production might be curtailed and prices might go up. In which event profits, of course, would increase.

Russians Hard Traders.
At the Harriman offices at 39

Broadway, New York. It was said that the Russians were "hard traders." "The Russian policy is one of conservation of the resources of Russia," it was said, "and it was necessary to meet the natural resistance of the communists to doing business with capital. They have found that to do business at all they must do business with the capital of the outside world, and they seemed to prefer American business methods to those of European countries. "One thing can be said for the soviet government. It does business on strict business principles. Throughout all of the negotiations there was not once a suggestion of personal profit for an official of the government. The officials fought to get the best terms possible for the government, and their interest seemed to be centered there."

FIRST OF DISTRICT MEETINGS OF BAR ASSOCIATION HELD

Principal Address at Kirksville
by R. R. Brewster, Who Says Courts Are Over-Technical.
KIRKSVILLE, Mo., Dec. 1.—The first of a series of district bar
meetings of the State Association,
to be held throughout the State,
met here last night with 110 lawyers in attendance from practically every town from Canton to Boonville.

The session opened with a banquet at the Travelers' Hotel. E.
O. Jones of LaPlata was toastmaster and Judge J. A. Cooley of Kirksville welcomed the visiting lawyers.

R. R. Brewster of Kansas City made the chief speech of the evening. He stressed the indifference of the average American to duties of citizenship, dwelling on defects
of present day jury systems in large cities. The courts, he said, are likely to over-emphasize technicities.

Charles Life of Dexter told some Southeast Missouri yarns. A political tinge was given the meeting
by the presence of several persons mentioned for Judge of the Su-
side were George R. Ellison, Maryville, and E. S. Grant of Mexico, avowed candidates, and A. W.
Walker of Fayette, who is considered a probability. The Republicans present were W. F. Frank, Kirksville, Assistant Attorney-General, and A. M. Seddon of Kansas City, present Supreme Court Commissioner.

E. F. LOREE'S RAIL COMBINE
PLAN NOW NEAR COMPLETION
Kansas City Southern Shares Rise

Interest Grows.
By The Associated Press.
NEW YORK, Dec. 1.—Drafting
of a merger plan which will unite
the Kansas City Southern, the Missourian-Kansas-Texas and the St.
Louis Southwestern (Cotton Belt)
railroads in the Southwestern system, being sponsored by E. F. Loree is reported to be nearing completion and early announcement of the terms is expected.

A sharp rise in Kansas City
Southern shares to the highest level of the year today heightened interest in the consolidation proposals,
since this road is being considered as the nucleus of the enlarged system.

WOMAN BANK ROBBER PLANNED TO PAY MONEY BACK, SHE SAYS

Mrs. Rogers Declares She Intended to Reimburse Depository
When Husband Got Well.

By the Associated Press. SIOUX FALLS, S. D., Dec. 1.—Zera Crumb Rogers, 19 years old, who, with her mother, robbed the First State Bank of Renner last Friday, will be given a preliminary hearing here Wednesday.

The women are still in jail in lieu of $5000 bonds each. They declare they feel no remorse for having robbed the bank.

"I wouldn't care if they gave me 25 years in the penitentiary," Mrs. Rogers declares. "Twenty-five years would be nothing to the years I have already lived."

Mrs. Rogers maintains she was prompted to rob the bank to aid her husband, a disabled war veteran, who is drawing $50 a month from the Government for his disability.

"I never meant to keep the money," I planned to send my husband to the hospital at Rochester, Minn., and then, after he got well, I was going to pay the money back. I never planned to let them know, though, who was sending it."

Zera Rogers was in Judge Lindsey's Juvenile Court in Denver several years ago. In March, 1922, when still under probation from the Denver court, she came to Sioux Falls and was placed in the custody of her mother.

While in Denver she lived with her father, H. Crumb, the first husband of Mrs. Rogers. Crumb served a term in the penitentiary here years ago. He was divorced from Mrs. Rogers in 1911 and died about two years ago.

MUENCH IN OFFICE AS CITY COUNSELOR, SENTI IS HIS AID

Names Predecessor as First Associate—Most Important Problem Is Quickening Bond Issue Work.

Julius T. Muench today took office as City Counselor, and announced immediately that he would appoint his predecessor, Oliver G. Senti, as First Associate City Counselor, their salaries as such being $8000 and $5000, respectively. Arthur Bader, who was First Associate, resigned recently to practice law.

Muench is a son of former Circuit Judge J. H. Muench, and resides at 2117 Longfellow place. He was appointed by Mayor Miller. The most important of a number of problems now confronting the city's legal department is the quickening of bond issue work, particularly street widening projects. Much of the delay in this work so far has been caused by the necessity for looking up titles to property affected by the improvements and the fact that title companies are swamped with work. It has been suggested that the city employ its own title inspectors, but Muench believes this impractical as the title companies have experienced inspectors and have their own records.

Muench will confer with Mayor Miller and Comptroller Nolte soon as to his stand on a bill now pending which would raise the salaries of the present legal staff and increase the number now employed in the condemnation division. If the bill is adopted, Senti, for instance, will receive $7200 as First Associate.

Lamps from All the World

France, Germany, Italy, Syria, China, Japan
—and the Best to be had in America

NEVER before have we collected for our customers so large and so varied an assortment of rare and beautiful lamps.

More than 1500 lamps await your inspection—lamps for every room—new-style, decorative lamps—lamps at all prices. Many of the imported lamps are surprisingly low in price. Any of these lamps make exquisite Christmas gifts.

Ten months to pay on your light bills

Royal Sevres Porcelains

These lovely vases come from the old French royal porcelains at Sevres. They represent the finest art of European producers. The shades are of exquisite silks from the old weavers of France who spun the silks for the royal palace at Versailles. There are no lovelier lamps in the world.

Dresden Lace Figures

This exquisite style from Meissen, a suburb of Dresden, was originated at the order of Bismarck, the Iron Chancellor. These lamps are of matchless artistry and the lace is genuine, but petrified. Their daintiness gives them an incomparable charm.

Italian Majolica

These lamps bear the quaint artistry of old Italy in striking simplicity and charm. The shades, in silk or parchment, are designed particularly to match them, and make a complete unit of singular charm. Those who love the quaint and unusual will find in these lamps an irresistible appeal.

French Bronzes

Created in the foundries of France's master-casters, these stately bronzes have a charm of dignity all their own. The designs in bas-relief are exquisite in conception and are executed in masterful style. The shades match them in tone and make a unit of beauty and simplicity.

Castilliano Marbles

From the native villages of Michael Angelo and Cellini come these exquisite products of the sculptor's art. Italy continues to give us the fine devotion of artists whose skill has been a family tradition for generations. You must see these examples of modern home art to really know their beauty.

Chinese Lustres

No people have matched the Chinese in ceramic art—particularly rich lustres. They have a mysterious depth that is distinctive. Decorated in Oriental designs of gold leaf, fitted with shades to match, they stand apart—majestic sources of light, bespeaking fine taste and discrimination.

Japanese Satsumas

To those who love the odd and bizarre in decorative art, Satsuma has a definite appeal that no other ware can offer. It expresses the Oriental oddity of art conception in a striking way, and yet is charming in its distinction from all other styles. The shade matches in tone and spirit.

Bridge Lamps

The most intimate lamp in the home—the lamp that stands at the arm of the easy chair, shedding its soft glow on the evening page, and making home a place of rest and cheerful comfort. Wide variety—new styles—Marquize silk shades, or hand painted crystalline designs. Prices as low as $3.50.

Junior Lamps

The graceful floor lamp that can be set anywhere in the home is a lovely source of comfortable light that adds beauty to any surrounding in which it is put. There are many variations, including the new styles in slender metal stands. The shades are Marquize, of course. Prices as low as $5.50 complete.

TWO TELL HOW THEY BOUGHT HONORARY MEDICAL DIPLOMAS

St. Louisans Testify in State's Ouster Suit Against Kansas City School.

KANSAS CITY, Dec. 1.—An account of obtaining "honorary" medical diplomas from the Kansas City College of Medicine and Surgery was given by two witnesses yesterday in the hearing being held here on an ouster suit brought against the college by the State Attorney General's office.

Dr. Clarence L. Hobbs and Dr. A. G. Hobbs, both of St. Louis, testified that honorary diplomas were issued to them for use in making application for examination before the Connecticut State Board of Health.

Dr. Clarence Hobbs testified he paid $250 to Dr. Date R. Alexander, secretary of the college. The diploma was delivered to him in June, 1922, in New Haven, Conn., by Dr. Alexander. The deal for the diploma was arranged, he said, at that time Hobbs held a degree from the St. Louis College of Physicians and Surgeons, but this degree, Hobbs said, he was told by Dr. Alexander, would not be accepted by the Connecticut board, but that he would furnish him with an "honorary" diploma from the Kansas City school.

Hobbs said there were several other applicants appearing before the Connecticut board with "honorary" diplomas from the Kansas City school. Dr. A. G. Hobbs, a cousin of Dr. Clarence Hobbs, gave similar testimony. He, too, obtained one of the Kansas City diplomas for use before the Connecticut board. His cost was $150, he said.

TWO REPORTS TO COOLIDGE ON USE OF MUSCLE SHOALS

Majority Favors Government Operation, While Minority Urges Private Leasing of Properties.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 1.—Majority and minority reports of the President's Muscle Shoals commission, made public today, disclosed that the majority favored Government operation of the properties if a satisfactory lease was not forthcoming, while the minority held out for private operation.

The majority — Chairman McKee, former Senator from South Carolina and R. F. Bower — urged the importance of continued maintenance of Muscle Shoals as a part of the national defense, "the crying need of agriculture for more and cheaper fertilizer and the favorable opportunity for meeting that need."

The minority — Prof. Harry A. Curtis of Yale and William McClellan — declared private operation was indispensable and that separate power and fertilizer leases should be made. They recommended creation of a Muscle Shoals board of five members to be appointed by the President for a 5-year term to arrange for leasing. They favor the leasing of Wilson dam, the hydro-electric power generated there, and the steam-electric power generating plant at Nitrate Plant No. 2 for a period of not to exceed 50 years.

DICTATORSHIP FOR

FRANCE SUGGESTED

Archbishop Glennon Says It Might Be Change for Better
in That Nation.

A dictatorship in France might be a change for the better, Archbishop Glennon said in his talk before the Catholic Club of St. Louis, at the dinner given in his honor at Hotel Chase last night.

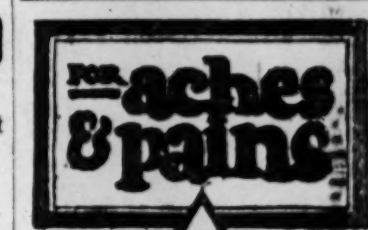

The Archbishop, who visited France and Italy last summer, said the dictatorships in Italy and Spain were an improvement upon "petty grafting" regimes. Latin nations, he suggested, need a strong hand at the helm. The "continual shifting of responsibility" in the recent experience of the French may make them ready for a stronger Government, he suggested.

John S. Leahy, president of the Catholic Club, spoke on the theme of intolerance, and attacked the Anti-Saloon League and its counsel, Wayne B. Wheeler. Chancellor Hadley of Washington University spoke of his long acquaintance with Archbishop Glennon, and reviewed public aspects of the Archbishop's career. Dr. R. E. Kane, president of the board of directors, and Mr. J. J. Tannath pronounced the invocation.

45-Hour Week for Workers.

By the Associated Press. WASHINGTON, Dec. 1.—Reports showing that the major operations of the lumber manufacturing industry of the South are establishing a 55-hour working week, providing for a half-day shutdown Saturday, have been received by Wilson Compton, manager of the National Lumber Manufacturers' Association. The movement in the Southern industry to supplant the long prevailing 60-hour week, Compton announced, indicates it will shortly extend to virtually every concern in that section and affect between 100,000 and 150,000 employees.

BY JOHN J. LEARY JR.,
Dispatch and New York Wor
PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 1.— anthracite operators declined to blank to accept Gov. Pinch suggestions for ending the anthrax strike, begun three days ago, on the ground that they "c pletely fail to meet the needs of the case."

The operators in a letter sent the Governor by special messenger last night said: "It is only some basis that recognizes fact the controlling influence that controversy can be satisfactor settled. The substitution of an agency is a policy to which we not subscribe."

"It is impossible for us to find your proposals the basis of a so-
and lasting settlement and for same reason they cannot be c sidered as the basis for contin-ing negotiations."

As a substitute for the Pinch proposal, the operators express willingness to resume negotiations in an effort to reach an agreement in the event of failure to resolve within 30 days to refer all matters in dispute to an arbitra-board. This board would be up

Buses Must Earn Profits.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
I DESIRE to direct the attention of those interested in the local bus discussion to the companies operating in New York City and Detroit. The buses operated in these cities are identical in type to those used here. None have the least resemblance of the luxurious Pullman coach, nor are they equipped with pneumatic tires. They are strictly utilitarian in design and finish, as the rolling stock of any municipal public carrier should be. Likewise, they employ the only sensible kind of tires, solid rubber. It is well to consider that the bus companies of the above cities have proved successful as a profitable business enterprise and also as a utility capable of delivering quicker and generally more satisfactory service than the surface rail systems with which they compete. They are operated on a profitable basis. At least stockholders have been known to receive dividends on their stock. The companies that now operate the parlor car type of bus on their city lines have yet to prove their stability to the extent of having their balance sheets show up in black. And, too, have these companies with all their beautifully appointed coaches given a consistently better service, day after day? It is doubtful.

The bus company has proved its value to St. Louis. It has done more to create a much needed metropolitan atmosphere than has any other factor yet. It has improved property values and opened up new districts that never would have been developed, since the United Railway has been impatient to accomplish such. Yet it has met opposition of some sort at nearly every move. And still there are some citizens of St. Louis who endeavor to retard the company's further progress by framing a new, senseless demand that such impracticable equipment be installed that would not only render the company powerless to guarantee the same consistent good service now enjoyed, but would be so expensive that operation on a profitable basis is doubtful.

A Boy's Appeal.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
I AM 14 years old and my brother is 12 years old, and my mother is a widow and works for $12 a week, and she can't buy all the things we need. We have no shoes or warm clothes and can't go to school, so will you ask if some family in our city has got any old clothes too small for their boys and if they will please let me and my brother have them. Mamma can fix them up if they need it. Also I can work after 4 p. m. every day if any kind man needs a boy to help him. I wish I could help mother out a bit because it is so hard on her all alone with daddy gone. I hope that some good lady will read this that has a boy like me and maybe I can get some shoes and warm pants so I can go to school like the others.

A LITTLE BOY IN NEED.

(The writer of this letter requested that his name and address be not published. The name and address will be given to any reader desiring to help the boy.—Editor Post-Dispatch.)

Good Enough for the "Rabbit."
To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
WILL you allow me space to enlighten on "A Discouraged Rider," but an Auto Owner Soon? The new front door entrance rule is not so dumb a change as it at first appears. I, as from the standpoint of the U. R.—for just as soon as the rabbit are educated to the new rule of standing out in storm and cold, waiting for a crowd of passengers to pay their fares, get change and transfer, the conductors will be put off and all cars will be one-man cars, and the dear U. R. will save money, money. ANOTHER PROSPECTIVE AUTO OWNER.

ANDREWS AND SMALL ON PROHIBITION EVILS.

There were two notable contributions in the Sunday Post-Dispatch on the subjects of Federal prohibition, its consequences, and remedies for the evils it has caused. One was from Gen. Lincoln C. Andrews, Assistant Secretary of the Treasury, in charge of prohibition enforcement, and the other from the Rev. Sam Small, former newspaper man and for many years evangelist and temperance advocate.

Both of these authorities agreed on the evil consequences of Federal prohibition. They agreed that it had created dangerous criminal elements and had caused widespread disrespect for law and hostility to law enforcement. They agreed that it had caused an orgy of lawlessness and official corruption. Both agreed that the attempt to enforce Federal prohibition through the drastic Volstead act had resulted in the unwarranted invasion of the powers of the states and the rights of individual citizens, which is resented by a large percentage of the people.

Gen. Andrews justified his ceasing to attempt to enforce Federal prohibition laws in the states and against private individual citizens and concentrating on interstate transportation and sale of liquor, on the ground that local enforcement of Federal prohibition laws by Federal officers "offends the fundamentals of our form of government." Remarking that "the criminal is making a monkey out of the policeman," he added that bootlegging "is resulting in the enrichment of a dangerous criminal class, and the corruption of the agents of Government, local, state and Federal, and of those engaged in many phases of commercial life which touch the handling of alcohol, cereal beverages, medicinal whiskeys and sacramental wines."

Mr. Small, as a pioneer in the cause of temperance and prohibition, declared that the eighteenth amendment and the Volstead law were too drastic and went far beyond the original intention of prohibition leaders. The intention was to put the saloons out of business and to prevent the sale of hard liquor, not to prevent the sale of beer. He said the original intention was to prevent its commercial manufacture and sale, but not to interfere with the private conduct of citizens with regard to either making or using liquors. He quoted Hobson as protesting against denying and prohibiting ancient and inalienable natural rights, and saying "the object of forbidding the sale is to avoid even a suspicion of any desire to impose sumptuary legislation upon the American people, or to invade the rights of the individual and the home." Mr. Small, referring to the evils of prohibition, says:

The consequence has not only been a flood of official scandals, evidences of corruption, instances of unwarranted outrages upon private rights, and the demonstration that the Volstead act is practically unenforceable in its present terms and with all the machinery possible for the Federal Government to employ. Hence, the silly demands we hear for more drastic legislation and the use of the armed forces of the nation.

Gen. Andrews and Mr. Small differ in public at least on the subject of remedies. Gen. Andrews hopes that by withdrawing Federal enforcement from the states and individual and local offenses, resentment of the usurpation of state powers and the invasion of individual rights will subside. He pleads for obedience to law and for the enforcement of state and local laws by state and local authorities. In a number of states and localities, however, the majority of people are against prohibition. It is therefore vain to expect them to support and enforce laws which they believe to be wrong. Nor can the great percentage of the American people who are against sumptuary legislation and who hold that prohibition offends the fundamentals of this country and invades individual rights, be expected to respect and obey the prohibition laws.

Mr. Small takes a broader view of the subject. He thinks the supporters of prohibition should drop their illusions, cease to spread bunk about the success of prohibition, face the consequences, and deal frankly and wisely with the problem. In short, that they should correct their mistakes.

Mr. Small has the better view. His is the wise method of dealing with a problem that has not been solved and with a policy that has proved to be disastrous and dangerous. The attitude of these men, however, taken with the attitude of many other thoughtful and able public men, is a hopeful sign of a realization of the menacing conditions arising from Federal prohibition, and an awakening to the necessity of finding a sound solution of the problem.

THERE IT HANGS.

It was missing for a few days, but once again the portrait of that great patriot, Albert B. Fall, looks benignly down from the walls of the Interior Department building at Washington. You may banish the idea that its temporary removal had any other significance than that the wall had to be redecorated. Those suspicious souls who made inquiry were brusquely informed that there is no reason for omitting Fall's picture while his case is still before the courts. So there it hangs. From present indications, no doubt it will continue to hang there for the edification of the multitude until the crack of doom. Such is the reward for Albert B. Fall's well-known services to the republic.

The Krupp works is now making baby carriages instead of guns. From the French point of view the new occupation of the famous factory is more ominous than the old.

CHAPPIE AND DAN CUPIDITY.

Dan Cupidity is said to be the high god of Chappie Moran, "king of con men," but Moran has no exclusive right to him. Dan Cupidity belongs to all the swindlers who ever swindled. Very few of them could have succeeded without this mocking imp, who, unlike his brother, Dan-Cupid, has no sweet or pleasant moods. The career of Chappie Moran among Illinois small-town business men is just another example of the truth that men are not swindled; they swindle themselves in attempting to swindle somebody else.

In five of the cases recited in Sunday's Post-Dispatch the victims bought stock after being introduced to a man who said he would buy the stock from them at a tremendous profit. These victims did not stop to consider whether the stock they bought was good or worthless. They thought they saw a chance to "stick" the other fellow and make a killing. They were perfectly willing to run the chance of swindling this apparently guileless third party. All they wanted was a quick turnover and no questions asked. Boobs? Yes. But many another investor should beware of Dan Cupidity's arrows.

FASCISM IN FRANCE.

When a Government is unable to function something is bound to happen. That is the condition in France. The thing that has happened is Fascism, all dressed up in a blue shirt and gray hat, but not quite ready to go.

The story was interestingly told in the Post-Dispatch yesterday by our Paris correspondent. It is admitted that no Mussolini has taken command of this French movement. The leaders, like the rank and file, are young men of no particular reputation or prestige. Still, they are no more obscure than Mussolini was a few months before the march on Rome. And if a crisis in Italy can invoke a masterful character why may not a crisis in France?

Anyhow French Fascism is not to be dismissed because no full-blown Minerva has sprung out of its Jovian brow. It has an admitted membership of 30,000 (it claims 100,000) and, what is of infinitely greater importance, it has a reason for its being.

That reason is the paralysis of Government, the impotence of Premiers, the ricocheting of ministries. This official helplessness, as our correspondent explains, is chargeable to the Socialists. Though a minority they constitute a sinister balance of power. They are able to defeat any measure that does not embody their wishes. They cannot accomplish but they can obstruct. In this they are assisted at times by the Communist members who, with implicit fickleness, veer now in one direction, now in another.

That is the obstructive role which radicalism is playing in France. Fascism is the answer. It is a natural, almost inevitable, reaction.

What is to be the future of this movement? Will it be a flash in the pan or is France now in the travail of a dictatorship? Our correspondent does not venture an answer. He leaves it on the knees of the gods. But his survey of the situation is challenging. And the challenge of his article carries across the Atlantic. For Washington has contributed importantly to the bewilderment and bedevilment of France. When we sent Caillaux back empty-handed from his debt-funding mission we helped to brew this hell's broth.

TO ARMS, QUIXOTE, TO ARMS!

The fair name of Dulcinea Del Toboso is imperiled. If not actually besmirched, 'old's blood, we fear would splinter a lance in her defense. "Calfidit archivist, dusty fellows with long, unromantic noses, have uncovered at El Toboso, Spain, documents purporting to show that the matchless Dulcinea once lived in the flesh. Insidiously they have sought to prove that she belonged to the notorious house of Palacios Dulcinea, a close relative of that capricious light of love, Dona Ana Martinez Zarco, who intrigued the novelist, Cervantes, and killed him. It will not stop here, this dastardly research. Soon the news will break upon a shuddering world that Dulcinea was cross-eyed, had a wen on her ear or was a shabby vagrant.

Don Quixote, alas, has tilted at his last windmill. But there are others left on earth to take up the sage and enter the lists. Fie upon the scandal mongers who would sully Dulcinea Del Toboso, pure flower of the Pyrenees. She was no offspring of a degenerate house. She was only a farmer's daughter, sweet, innocent, unspoiled. It was for her that the gallant knight, Quixote, took to the road. For her sake he did and dared. Those who would infer otherwise are mean enough to dig up the bones of Rosinante, noble charger, and swear on their oath that he suffered from ringbone and spavin.

CHEERS, YES—VOTES? NEVER.

The Democratic party of Missouri is out of debt and has money in the treasury for the first time in 25 years. Such affluence ought to move all true-hearted Jeffersonians to give three rousing cheers for Coolidge prosperity.

TINKHAM'S WORLD COURT PROPOSAL.

Seemingly ambitious to step into the shoes of the late Henry Cabot Lodge, Representative George Holden Tinkham of Massachusetts announces that he will introduce a resolution in the House to provide for a third Hague conference, to be called by the United States, "for establishment of a permanent international court of justice representing directly the sovereign nations and the codification of international law." The movement is said to be a revival of Lodge's plan for a court over which the League of Nations shall have no control, the contention of the supporters of this plan being that such control is now possible.

As a Republican, Mr. Tinkham should remember what the late President Harding said with regard to the organization of the existing court, in an address in April, 1923. Pointing out that the court judges were representative of the nations selecting them, and not tools of the League Council, Harding recited the administration's efforts to discover a basis for adherence that would involve no League entanglements, and having found this, he said: "I proposed adherence to the court protocol and asked the Senate's consent. The documents speak for themselves. It was pointed out that no rights under the League and no obligations of the League would be incurred, but to make certain that we would not be involved, the letter of the Secretary of State suggested suitable reservations to afford ample guaranty."

The letter of Charles Evans Hughes, then Secretary of State, is a matter of record. It pointed out that the Permanent Court of International Justice was established on a sound basis; that the selection of judges is not a League function; that the League cannot and does not control the court, which is an independent judicial body; and that the reservations proposed by the administration would remove any possible danger of trouble for the United States in joining and making use of the court.

It is absolutely unthinkable that President Coolidge, who favors adherence by the United States to the existing court, will take official notice of Tinkham's absurd proposal to create a competing court, thus equipping the world with two "permanent" international courts of justice.

PANETELA.

Yes, Luella.
Down in Texas
Things are popping
Sure enough.
Looks as if
The he-man movement Might become A little rough.
Anyway,
The boys are rising
With the old-time
Texas shout,
And it must
Not much surprise us
If Ma Ferguson
Is out.

What the trouble is,
My dearie,
One can easily
Divine:
Women,
Pardoning the strictures,
Have their Undisputed line.
Home without them
Is a nightmare.
Nor is life's Great drama played:
But in politics,
Luella,
They have yet
To make the grade.

What Ma Ferguson
Is doing
That has roused
The old knight
Of the medieval Men-folk
Is what any Woman would.
That is,
Having her conception
Of what life
Could well become.
Ma has exercised
Her power
And put Texas
On the bum.

So we have it,
Little girlie:
When we look
The matter through
There are offered
To us merely
These two Warning points
Of view:
Woman sees
The world imperfect
For the ride.
Pierced-headed sex,
And her notion
Of perfection
Is to write
The fellows' necks

So it is,
My dear,
In Texas
Ma, with sisterly Accord,
Does what Any married woman
Will do
To her own liege lord.
That is,
Holding them a wicked
Lot of roughnecks,
Lo, she falls

On them with Her pogmoggon.
And we have
The best of brains!

Sir: A recent department store ad ingeniously capitalized the inherent propensity for taking a chance by a sale of various articles at prices represented only by question marks in the announcement, thus necessitating a trip to the store to find out for yourself.

A similar device might well be employed in other enterprises. Theaters could withhold prices, and even names of attractions, until after you were safely "on the inside," as the circus barkers say. By a slight extension they might postpone payment until after the show, and then only charge whatever you thought it was worth.

Some such gambling element has long been recognized in politics. We first elect a man on his promise to do certain things (commonly impossible anyway) and then are privileged to watch the question marks as to what he will accomplish turn into exclamation points of rage and despair. Thanks to his stern Puritanic traditions, President Coolidge will not have any taint of chance associated with his actions. He circumvents this vice of the Roosevelt and Wilsons in a remarkably simple manner. He does nothing at all.

The Russian government has just shot 12 officials for grafting. Among those executed were M. Zhivirov, assistant commander of the port of Leningrad; M. Linberg, chief of transport department; M. Reshetkov, head of the supply department; M. Rippa, in charge of the mechanical equipment; M. Cherkasov, chief of fuel stores; and M. Putintsev, head of the building department. Probably that same group of men everywhere else in the world is also grafting, but Russia alone has the courage to shoot them for it.

Sir: Prominent downtown cigar store is displaying an absurdly expensive line of imported cigar lighters, featuring its card advertising these superfluous gew-gaws with the impressive announcement that they are "PREFERRED BY THE ENGLISH GENTRY."

Truly looks as if Thackeray may have been partially right when he said that "there is about a free-born Briton a hot-spittle awe of rank which does not exist under any tyranny in Europe, and is only found here and in America."

Governor Pinchot's efforts to settle the coal strike met with no better luck than a rebuke from the miners. We don't look to soda pops for statesmanship, and we seem to be looking about right.

The socialists are laying the opposition one strike after another in European politics. They are ahead of their time, but inasmuch as the opposition is just as much behind its time, that hardly seems pertinent.

The MIRROR of PUBLIC OPINION

This column is designed to reproduce without bias the latest comment by the leading publicists, newspapers and periodicals on the questions of the day.

MISSOURI ROAD BUILDING.

From the Kansas City Star.
IN A CERTAIN state where road building is moving along at a pretty good clip, an announcement was made recently, with some display of pride, that expenditures for highway construction for the year would amount to $15,000,000. That, only a few years back, would have been considered a good round sum for any state to devote to the purpose, and it isn't a miserly outlay at present. Yet consider what the "backwash" of the Missouri road building is doing. Including contracts for about 127 miles of roads to be let within two weeks, the cross-state highway for highways this year alone will cost $11,000,000. Not all the work contracted for will be completed within the next months, of course. But roads actually under construction with hard surfacing in Missouri this year will total 1000 miles. And, in addition, about 750 miles will be graded and bridged and prepared for completion in the near future. The Missouri road building program, because of excessive cost, the cross-state highway No. 2, from Kansas City to St. Louis, will be paved by Christmas, with the completion of the 40 miles of work being blocked by the injunction at Fulton. The Southern cross-state road by way of the State Capitol will be paved in another year, as will be other routes several hundred miles in length. Missouri, once a laggard in road building, now is a leader. There are few, if any, states that are proceeding at a more rapid rate in linking up counties and improving centers with pavement. The gains to the State will be tremendous, and not the least of them will be the new reputation for progress Missouri will enjoy throughout the country.

EUROPE'S INDUSTRIAL NEED.

From the American Review of Reviews.
IT HAS been asserted recently that all the industries of Europe, including the railroads, could be operated by hydro-electric power from eight generating centers, some of them in Scandinavia and a majority of them in those extensive mountain regions known by the general term Alps. But obviously Europe is not to have the benefit of a scientific development and distribution of hydro-electric power unless there are Pan-European agreements that would recognize the common advantages of a general industrial development, as against the present idea that commerce and industry are to be cherished as nationalistic affairs and to be prosecuted in a spirit of hostility toward the economic activities of neighboring countries. When Europe has the courage to disarm and the economic solidarity to co-operate, it will be seen that there is no such thing as serious overpopulation in any of the European countries, though there will be some advancement in shifts and migrations. Thus the Italians already going in very large numbers to work and live in France; and when proper relationships are established, the Poles, Germans and Bohemians will not find it difficult to associate freely in the industrial and business activities of Central Europe. The industrial life of the Rhine valley, from Switzerland to the North Sea demands freedom, unity and co-operation; and the makers must give place to the capacity of industry and the hosts of organized labor.

ALBERT B. GROVES, ARCHITECT, IS DEAD

His Firm Designed Buildings Costing $60,000,000—He Was 58 Years Old.

Albert B. Groves, architect, whose firm designed buildings whose cost totaled $60,000,000 in the last quarter century, died yesterday at his home, 5419 Maple avenue. He was 58 years old. Funeral arrangements have not been made.

His architectural work was most in St. Louis and he designed numerous notable buildings here, including the Mercantile Trust building, the University of St. Mary's Hospital, the University of St. Mary's College, Pennsylvania, and Wydown avenue, Westminster, Maryland Hotel, the recent addition to the Mercantile Trust building, the "White House" building, the Leather Trades Building and the buildings for the firm: Marshall-Sloan Millinery Co., the Brown Shoe Co. and White House Shoe Co.

Mr. Groves was born at Providence, R. I., Dec. 8, 1866, and was educated at Cornell University, where he graduated in 1888, he was employed by a Denver architect for two years, after which he traveled in France and Italy to study his profession. Then he came to St. Louis, in 1891, and became a member of the American Institute of Architects. He remained in St. Louis until his death.

Two years later, after the death of his partner, the firm was known as Groves & Groves, but the partner died in 1903, and thereafter Mr. Groves did business under his own name. However, A. A. Agutter, structural engineer, was associated with him for 15 years and continues in the business as the Groves & Agutter Building.

A thirty-third degree Mason, Mr. Groves was a member of a number of Masonic and other organizations. He had remained active in business and followed his usual routine until Saturday. He was taken with heart disease Saturday night and death occurred at 4:10 p. m. Sunday.

Mr. Groves was married at St. Charles in 1892 to Miss Clara Baker. He is survived by his wife and four children: Theron A. Groves, J. Groves, a student at Cornell; Mrs. Vera A. Siegel, Mrs. Mercedes Groves and Miss Mary Phyllis Groves.

DEATH NOT FATAL TO BEAUTY.
The column of the Post-Dispatch and the Chicago Record-Herald, which play in tennis tournaments is a warning to feminine beauty, is a warning usually given to good looking women who aspire to tennis honors. But Miss Ellen Bennett, who won the women's singles at the new summer club, shrugs her shoulders at the gloomy predictions of her friends and advisers. She is the winner of the first-class players' trophy in England and only 18. She has a straight hair and the face and figure of a film star. Her tennis game improved after that of Miss Leng, and there is no promise of her winning championships. She chooses to ignore the warnings of women who tell her that no regular tennis tournament player has proved her good looks for more than three or four years.

KOELN TO RUN AGAIN FOR COLLECTORSHIP

Announcement Taken as Direct Challenge to the Power of Mayor.

City Collector Edmund Koeln has let it be known that he will be a candidate to succeed himself at the August primaries next year and political observers view his decision as a direct challenge to the power of the organization, which Mayor Miller has been industriously building since he overthrew the Republican City Committee by his election last April and stripped it of its patronage.

The City Committee, helpless in the present administration, has received little comfort from Collector Koeln in the past as he has repeatedly broken the committee "state" with independent candidates to whom he threw his support. Thus, it happens that in a fight between the Mayor and Koeln the committee sees its antagonists, two men who in the past have soundly defeated it. But the ranking of the Mayor's victory hurt far more than the chastisement Koeln administered. They are deduced by time and it is likely that all the anti-Miller strength will get behind Koeln without the asking.

A significant feature of recent date is that Koeln tacitly offered his approval of the proposed appointment of Louis J. Becker, chairman of the Republican City Central Committee, as Collector of Internal Revenue to succeed Arnold J. Hollnrich, who resigned when indicted in connection with the Jack Daniel whisky conspiracy.

Becker has the endorsement of the City Committee and Senator Williams left St. Louis with the intention of presenting his name to President Coolidge for nomination.

Becker, who has opposed the policies of the Mayor in the City Committee, was spoken of as a candidate in the event Koeln did not run. The proposed Federal appointment, of course, eliminates this phrase of it.

BIG TURTLE ARRIVES AT ZOO

An alligator snapping turtle, whose age is estimated at 125 years, arrived at the Forest Park Zoo yesterday. This is the ordinary type of snapping turtle, with hard shell and an average longevity of 500 years. It weighs 51 pounds.

It was caught in a bayou in Mississippi County by the State Fish and Game Department. Snapping turtles ordinarily are found in and near streams leading to the Gulf of Mexico and as far north as Southern Missouri. The Zoo has had a smaller snapping turtle for a number of years. These specimens cannot be exhibited during the winter because of weather conditions. At present they are kept in a private pool in the basement of the Primate House.

Two Killed in Louisiana Fire.

POLICE REPORT PARENT AND 2 SONS WERE FOUND INTOXICATED

Boy, 14, Treated at Hospital and Removed to Detention Home; Two Others Arrested.

Police, who went to a confectionery owned by George Grobowski, at 921 O'Fallon street, after an anonymous telephone call last night, reported that they found Grobowski, his wife, Mathilda, their sons, Steve, 14 years old, and Frank, 18, and two other men, all intoxicated in a rear room.

The youngest boy was lying on a bed, in which the police say they found a bottle of whiskey. He was treated at City Hospital and removed to the House of Detention. The others were arrested and taken to Carr Street Police Station.

DRIVER FLEEING AFTER ACCIDENT IS CAUGHT

Negro Chauffeur Held for Striking Boy, 15, Riding on Bicycle.

A boy on a bicycle was struck by an automobile at Taylor and McPherson avenues yesterday afternoon and the negro driver, who felonious fled from the scene, was captured five hours later after a detective traced him to a downtown garage and chased him several blocks in a commandeered automobile.

The boy, John Reardon, 15 years old, of 4604 McPherson avenue, is in a serious condition with internal injuries and a fractured nose. He was knocked down as he rode east against an automatic "stop" signal and three negroes in the automobile picked him up. He stated he was not hurt and was let out near his home by the driver, who gave him a card with a fictitious name and address.

License Traced by Detective.

Detective Lester Canning traced the license plate to R. E. Pustent, of the Buckingham Hotel, and learned the machine was kept in a garage at Fifteenth and Morgan streets. He waited there until 10:30 p. m. when the machine started to drive in, but on seeing the detective, the chauffeur turned and drove rapidly west. Canning pursued on foot, firing two shots. Then he commandeered a machine and overtook the negro at Theresa avenue. The chauffeur gave his name as Clifton Jones, 3433 Pine street. He admitted, police say, that he was at the wheel when the boy was hit and that he gave him the false name.

A yellow taxicab collided with an automobile at 5:30 p. m. yesterday, at Twenty-second street and Lucas avenue, resulting in injuries to four women passengers and the taxicab chauffeur. Those injured, all of whom suffered cuts and bruises of the body, were Misses Florence McGee, 24 years old, of 714 North Sixth street; East St. Louis; Catherine Tobin, 25, 2912 Barrett street; Marie Campbell, 27, 3418 Blair avenue; Marie Ryan, 25, 6167 Crescent avenue, and Thomas Hynes, 23, 1348 Union boulevard. Hynes and the driver of the other machine, Edward Lavell, 26, of 7005 Levee street, University City, were arrested.

A man, who suffered a fractured skull, at 5:30 p. m., when struck by an automobile as he was crossing Page boulevard at Grand boulevard, regained consciousness sufficiently at city hospital today to identify himself as John Graham, 47, a bricklayer. He was unable to give his address. The driver of the machine, Kenneth Williams of Ferguson, was arrested.

Mrs. Louise Henner, 50, of 2818 Lemp avenue, suffered internal injuries and a fractured left leg when struck by an automobile, as she was crossing Jefferson avenue, at Lynch avenue, at 6 p. m. Louis Zorensky, of 1424 Laurel avenue, driver of the machine, was arrested.

Woman Crossing Street Hurt.

An automobile, being driven south in Compton avenue by De Paul Blackburn, of 3907 Kennerly avenue, at 5:15 p. m., struck Robert Baumann, 21, of 6038 Emma avenue, and Mrs. Amy Arlington, 37, a negro, of 3229 Lucas avenue, as they were crossing Compton at Lucas. Baumann suffered internal injuries and a fractured left leg and Mrs. Arlington suffered internal injuries and scalp wounds.

Miss Wilma Sweeney, 17, of 907 North Market street, suffered cuts and bruises of the body and a possible fracture of the left ankle at 7:30 a. m. today when struck in front of 2318 North Broadway by an automobile driven by George Grosch of 1023 Theobald street.

4 WOUNDED WHEN INVADER SHOOT UP RADIO PARTY

Negro Assailant Said to Have Been Angry Because Man Left Pool Game.

The radio party given by Oscar Bright, negro, at his home at 3402 Lawton boulevard, last night was interrupted at 8:40 o'clock by a negro who burst into the room and began discharging a revolver.

When the ambulance arrived the following casualties were found: William Davidson, 29, of 3926 Lawton boulevard, shot in the abdomen; Harry Halliday, 29, of 2214 Lucas avenue, shot in groin; Jesse Snyder, 42, of 2402 Lawton boulevard, shot in left thigh and right hip; Charles Brown, 27, of 2317 Laclede avenue, shot in back. All are in serious condition.

Halliday told policeman their assailant was angry because Halliday left their pool game to hear Bright's radio. Detectives are looking for him.

Woman Passes It at Kroger Store Then Disappears.

A $1 bill crudely raised by the figure 10 pasted over the 1 was passed as a $10 bill by a woman in the Kroger store at 1423 Chouteau avenue yesterday. She changed the bill at the grocery counter for $1.25 in foodstuffs, and then stopped at the meat counter for a 35-cent purchase. Manager Otis Brown discovered the raised bill a few minutes later, but a canvass of the neighborhood failed to produce the woman.

NEW PICTURE THEATER OF CHINESE DESIGN PLANNED

Henri Chouteau to Erect Structure on Site He Owns at 3627 Delmar Boulevard.

A new motion picture theater, to be added to the Grand boulevard group, was announced today by Henri Chouteau, of 26 Vandeventer place, who will erect the structure on a site he owns at 3627 Delmar boulevard.

The proposed theater, to cost $150,000 and with a seating capacity of 854, is to be of Chinese architecture, the architect, H. W. Kitchner, having copied the "Forbidden Palace," near Peking, China. The theater will be known as the "Hand Box." The second story has been leased by a Chinese restaurant.

Chouteau said today that the new theater will present first-run pictures from a producing corporation not now represented in St. Louis. The new theater will adjoin on the west the Liberty Musical Hall, which Chouteau also owns. Chouteau, who is a representative from St. Louis in the State Legislature, also is owner of the Odéon Theatre and the International Life building.

TUGBOAT, LOST IN FOG.
RAMS EADS BRIDGE PIER
The Susie Hazard With Huge Hole in Bow Is Run Ashore at Foot of Elm Street.

The Susie Hazard, one of the oldest tugboats in the local harbor, was pushing toward an East St. Louis wharf at 6 p. m. yesterday when she got lost in the murkiness and rammed the second pier of the Eads Bridge. The pier stood its ground, and Susie retired with a huge hole in her bow.

Water began seeping in. Pilot Thomas Parker decided to postpone the call at East St. Louis. He left the current take her downstream and ran her ashore at the foot of Elm street. There the water will be pumped out and the bow will be repaired, and the boat will be in service again soon.

The Susie Hazard weighs 80 tons wet and is valued at $40,000 by her present owner, the Southern Coal, Coke and Mining Co.

WOMAN TRIES TO END LIFE
Says She Took Poison After Dispute With Husband.

Mrs. Irene Woodall, 22 years old, taken from a room at the Melton Hotel, 1625 Market street, at 2:30 a. m. today, suffering from poison, told policemen she had attempted to end her life following a dispute with her husband.

The husband, Henry, 42 years old, was found in the room suffering from a bruised left eye and was taken to Central station for questioning. He said he did not know why his wife drank poison; that he had not had any trouble with her. He had bruised his eye, he said, in falling against a closet door. Mrs. Woodall's condition was reported as serious. A bottle that had contained three ounces of poison was found nearly empty in the room.

You, Too, May Own a Closed Packard

MANY a man has longed all his life to own a closed Packard, and yet still drives a compromise car. Why?

He remembers the famous Packard "30" and "18" of 1910, the "38's" and "48's" of 1913, and the mighty Twin Six, America's first twelve cylinder car.

He remembers, too, that those fine cars—all of them—cost over $4,000 at the factory. And he has not yet learned that the Packard Six—a better car by today's standards than those he felt he could not afford—is priced far lower than any closed car Packard has built in 25 years.

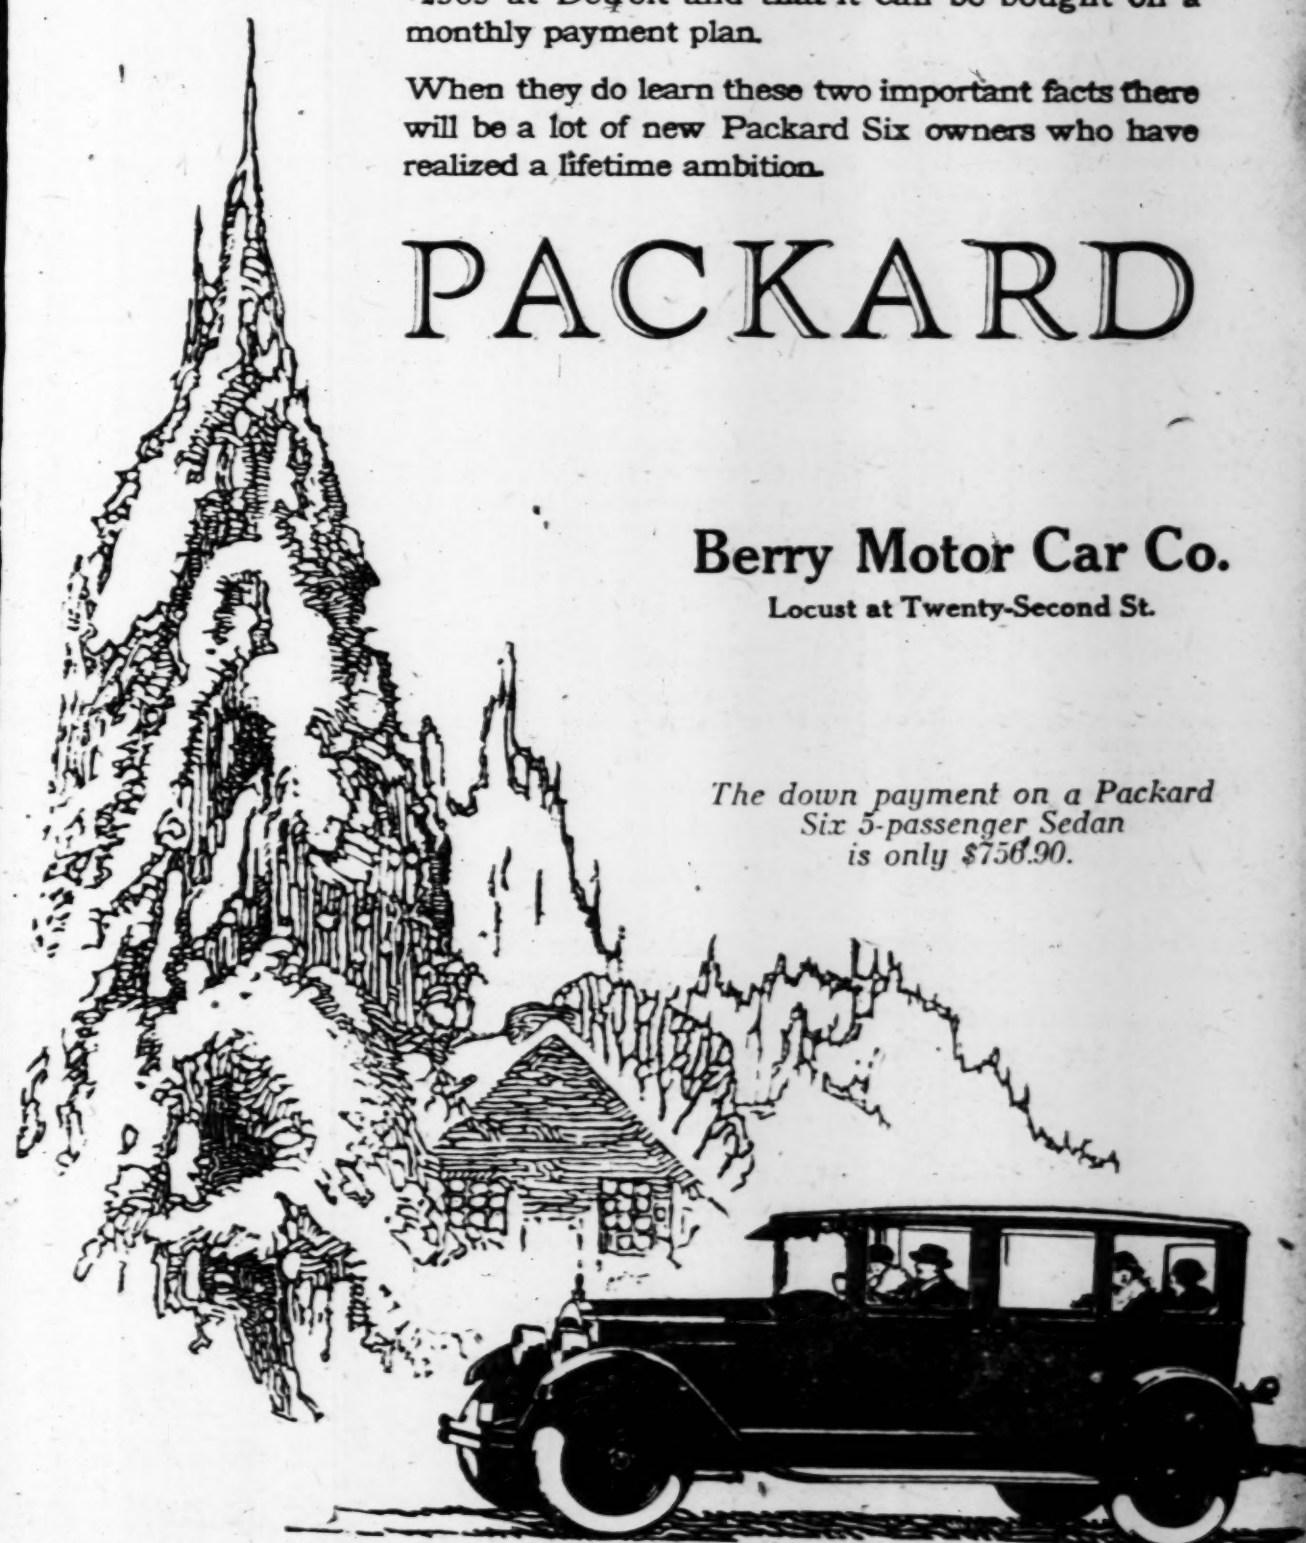

Many do not know that the Packard Six five-passenger Sedan with all necessary accessories is but $2585 at Detroit and that it can be bought on a monthly payment plan.

When they do learn these two important facts there will be a lot of new Packard Six owners who have realized a lifetime ambition.

Combing Won't Rid Hair of Dandruff

The only sure way to get rid of dandruff is to dissolve it, then you can wash it away. To do this, get about four ounces of ordinary liquid hair oil, apply it to the hair when it is dry, and rub it in gently with the fingers. Do this tonight, and by morning, if not all, of your dandruff will be gone. The oil will completely dissolve the dandruff, and you will find it much easier to wash out. The oil will also keep the scalp soft and healthy, and will prevent the hair from falling out. It will also keep the hair from becoming dry and brittle. It will also keep the hair from becoming greasy and sticky. It will also keep the hair from becoming itchy and uncomfortable. It will also keep the hair from becoming red and inflamed. BAKER TAX PLAN
OPPOSED BY STATE SUPERINTENDENT

Safer and Less Wasteful
Way to Obtain Increased Revenue for Schools, Lee Says.

PROPOSES LAW
BY INITIATIVE

Governor's Idea of Imbedding Experiment in Constitution Is Challenged
by Educator.

By the Jefferson City Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.
JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., Dec.
1.—Gov. Baker's proposed constitutional amendment, to provide a separate support fund for state and public schools, virtually will double the cost of State Government, exclusive of educational support, the State Superintendent of Schools, Charles A. Lee, declared today. Nor will it eliminate lobbying by the schools to get their appropriations,
he stated.

Lee said he favored a move to provide a large and assured source of revenue for support of public schools and state educational institutions, but expressed the view that the proposed amendment
would not prove satisfactory.

The proposal should be submitted as an initiative law, subject to amendment by the Legislature, Lee said, instead of as a constitutional amendment.

"Our present constitution is too restrictive," he said, "and the proposed measure will make it more restrictive. Anything as specific as this measure should be an initiative law. If this were adopted as part of the constitution, I have no doubt but that some of the features of the amendment would be bound to haunt before they could be repealed."

Points Out Weaknesses.
The tax on cigars and cigarettes
should be revised to include all tobacco and eliminate discrimination, Lee continued. He pointed out that the amendment proposes a ten per cent tax on the sale price of cigars and cigarettes, but none on smoking or chewing tobacco. If a tobacco tax is levied it should apply to all tobacco, Lee believes.

He declared the proposed severance tax of 1 to 2 per cent of the value of all minerals mined in Missouri would yield not more than $500,000 a year and "the liability engendered the entire program by this tax would be greater than the returns from it."

He said he did not favor starting out on a new tax that would not produce more than $500,000 a year.
"This is not big enough proposition," Lee continued. "The amount which the tobacco tax will raise is purely speculative and in addition this tax would be very costly to administer. It is true that the proposed measure, if the returns prove as large as contemplated, would provide about twice as much for public education as we have at the present time, but I believe when we adopt a proposition for public education it should be large enough to place the schools upon a substantial financial basis."

More General Revenue.
The proposed measure would make it possible to double the cost of State Government, exclusive of educational support, Lee said, and give the departments more money to spend.

"Under existing taxes the total annual revenue for general purposes is approximately $10,000,000,
he stated. "Of this amount $3,234-000, or one third, is set aside for apportionment to public schools,
which leaves a balance of $6,667-000. From this balance the State pays for the executive departments,
electromyary and penal institutions and support of the State educational institutions."

Appropriations for the state educational institutions now total
about $2,000,000 a year, Lee said,
and this amount subtracted from the six and two-thirds millions
leaves a balance of about 3 1-3 million for expenses of the state government, exclusive of educational support.

Under the proposed amendment
which transfers the present five cent property tax and inheritance tax to the school support fund the general revenues would amount to about $6,250,000 a year for running the various state departments,
as compared to about $3,333,000
available under the present system, Lee said.

No End to Lobbying.
"I believe the object of the proposed measure is to raise money exclusively for educational purposes and not the financing of state departments," Lee said.
"Some people say the measure
if adopted, would relieve the state university, teachers colleges and other state schools from the necessity of maintaining lobbyists to protect their interests during sessions of the legislature. Lee continued, "I am at a loss to see just how the proposed measure would accomplish this."

"The measure provides that 60 per cent of the fund shall be for apportionment to the public schools, and forty per cent to the higher institutions of learning.
The forty per cent will be appropriated by the legislature, which is exactly what the legislature does at the present time. The legislature now says how much money

each of our state educational institutions will get, and that is exactly what it would do under the proposed measure."

The only way to raise more money for public education is to increase taxes, Lee concluded. He suggested a straight property tax
of two mills would produce more than $10,000,000 annually, which could be used for support of public schools and the present general revenue fund could be used for expenses of the state government and support of the penal, electromyary and state educational institutions.

FARM'S BUYING POWER DOWN

Comparison Is Made With the 1909 to 1914 Period.
WASHINGTON, Dec. 1.—A decline in the purchasing power of farm products is reported by the Department of Agriculture. With 100 representing the 1909-1914 average, the weighted index was placed at 87 for October, compared with 93 for August. Food and fishery crops were found to be commanding relatively higher prices than feed crops.
"Wheat, potatoes, fruit and cotton are selling relatively above corn, hay, oats and barley," the department announced.

"Many corn growers are facing an unprofitable outcome in their chief money crop."

PETER WETZEL, COUNTY BANKER, FALLS DEAD

Former Recorder of Deeds
Succumbs on Street of Apoplexy—Services Thursday.

Funeral services for Peter Wetzel, St. Louis County banker and former Recorder of Deeds, who fell dead of apoplexy on the street in Clayton yesterday, will be held at 11 a. m. Thursday at the Clayton Presbyterian Church, with interment in Gravois Cemetery.

Mr. Wetzel was 54 years old and widely known in St. Louis County by reason of his service in the Recorder's office as well as his position in recent years as president of the St. Louis County Bank.

The body will be at Bopp's undertaking establishment at Kirkwood until shortly before the funeral, when it will be moved to the Wetzel home at 25 Hanley road, Clayton.

Mr. Wetzel became ill at the bank at 4:10 p. m. yesterday and left his office after telling Theodore Beyer, vice president, that he was going to consult his physician.

Dr. M. Leon, a short distance from the bank, in front of the courthouse, he fell to the sidewalk. He was dead when a physician reached him.

Mr. Wetzel served two four-year terms as Recorder, from 1922 to 1926, following 12 years in the office as a Deputy. He had been in politics for many years before his election and was one of the early supporters of Fred Esser, County Republican boss.

The Wetzel family has lived in St. Louis County for many years and Mr. Wetzel was born in the old family home at Gravois. Five sons and three daughters survive. They are: Forrest, Leland, Rolla, Lorette and Meredith Wetzel, Mrs. Dorothy Grossman, Mrs. Eunice Simon and Mrs. Bernice Zinger, all of St. Louis or St. Louis County.

ILLINOIS TRACTION TRAINMEN
SEEK SLIGHT WAGE INCREASE
Committee Negotiates With President of Line for Contract Covering One Year Period.

A slight wage increase and new working conditions are being sought by the Amalgamated Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen in their negotiations with the Illinois Traction System for a new contract for one year. The present wage scale of motormen, conductors and brakemen ranges from 50 to 65 cents an hour.

The contract under which the trainmen have been working expired last midnight, but they will continue to work under a clause of last year's contract which requires them to work while contract negotiations are in progress.

A committee of trainmen, headed by A. B. Armstrong of St. Louis, conferred with D. W. Snyder, vice president of the traction system, at Springfield, yesterday, and negotiations will be resumed at Peoria today. They will be in St. Louis tomorrow.

Newport, Maud Tracy and Sarah Saiger, all former pupils, for the purpose of keeping in touch with the discharged pupils to see that they are continuing in health gained while attending Tausig School. ## CUTS TRANSATLANTIC RECORD RACING AGAINST THE STORK

Commander of Leviathan Makes Voyage Across in Five Days Six Hours, 26 Minutes.

NEW YORK, Dec. 1.—Racing against the stork, the United States Liner Leviathan steamed into the harbor yesterday, breaking its own transatlantic sea record by almost an hour. Its commander, Capt. Herbert S. Hartley, caught the first ship to Opelika, Ala., where his wife is expecting the arrival of a new member of the family.

The passage across the Atlantic was made in five days six hours and 26 minutes, at an average speed of 24.28 knots, or 27.92 land miles per hour. Its previous record of five days seven hours and 20 minutes, made two years ago. Favorable weather conditions aided the captain in his race. During the entire voyage, passengers said, the ocean was as calm as a mill pond.

FIRST WIFE LIVING, HE SEEKS TO ANNUL SECOND MARRIAGE

Mike Ugasoff of Wood River, Ill., in filing suit for annulment of his marriage to Mamie Stewart, in the Circuit Court at Edwardsville, relates an odd tale. He says he was married in January, 1907, at Alexandropolis, a village of Marikela, Armenia, to Vortunas Averean and lived with her until 1914, when he came to the United States. He says he received no word from her and later heard that she was dead, and he began keeping company with Miss Mamie Stewart at Indiana Harbor, Ind. He told Miss Stewart about his former marriage and his impression that his first wife was dead and she agreed to check up on it. Later she told Ugasoff, he says, she had attempted to communicate with the first wife and had been told of her death.

On the strength of this they were married, and now Ugasoff says he learns he was misinformed. They separated last week. They have a son four years old.

TONIGHT RED GRANGE AND CHICAGO BEARS TO ARRIVE THIS EVENING

Jim Conzelman to Play Quarter for Donnellys In Contest Tomorrow

Game Marking Professional Debut of Earl Britton and St. Louis Debut of Illinois Red-Head at Sportsman's Park to Start at 2:30 O'Clock.

Quarterback Jimmy Conzelman, former Washington star, and Earl Britton, all-American center when he attended Michigan University, arrived from Detroit this morning and reported to Capt. Eddie Kaw for practice for the game at Sportsman's Park tomorrow afternoon between Red Grange's Chicago Bears and the Donnelly Stars.

The arrival of the two stars, who have been playing professional football in Detroit, gives Capt. Kaw a complete squad.

A long distance telephone call from Chicago this morning told the departure of Grange and the Bears for St. Louis on the 11:15 train.

While Johnson and Bud Yates, managers of the Red Grange team, announced this morning that they had received so many requests for a later starting time that they had decided to return to the original plan of starting tomorrow's game at 2:30 o'clock.

The clock was watched closely yesterday afternoon and it was light enough at 4:30 o'clock to play football. Starting at 2:30, the game will be played under lights. The Bears and the Donnelly Stars, who will have more than two hours of daylight in which to complete their game.

Johnson and Yates said numerous requests were made to change the starting time to 2:30, as that would make it possible for many persons to get away from their homes at 2 o'clock or 2:15, with ample time to get to the park in time to see the contest from start to finish. As Grange undoubtedly will be in the starting lineup all the spectators will want to be in the stands when the starting whistle blows.

Kaw's Probable Lineup.

While Capt. Kaw will use today's workout to determine finally the starting lineup, he indicated last night that he expected to have Jim Finnegan, St. Louis, and George Berger, Washington, as the ends of Syracuse and Evans of Arkansas at tackles. Roy of Notre Dame or Quirk of St. Louis and Geraghty of St. Louis at guard and Vick of Michigan at center. In the backfield Hannagan probably will be at fullback, with Kaw of Cornell and Williams of Wisconsin at quarter.

It was stated last night that the athletic board of St. Louis University had raised objections to Harvey Brown's playing in the Grange game and had requested the former Notre Dame star to stay out of the contest. However, as the famous Hannagan had promised to appear in the lineup, the athletic board undoubtedly will grant him permission to play, rather than place him in an embarrassing position.

Such a large crowd appeared at Sportsman's Park yesterday to witness the Donnelly Stars practice that Capt. Kaw asked that at today's workout the crowd be kept in the stands. The throng of spectators swarmed on the field and interfered with the players.

Grange Due This Evening.

Grange and the Chicago Bears will arrive this evening at about 6 o'clock and will spend the night at the Coronado Hotel. Grange's

Coliseum Quint to Play Tonight

Russell's Basket Five in Final Practice for Cincinnati Series.

Capt. Don Russell's all-star team of former university basketball stars, organized a month ago to play under the colors of the New Coliseum A. C., will play its final practice game tonight on the Washington University court, where the local cagers have been training for the opening battle of their two-game series with the Guarantee Trust Collegians of Cincinnati, O.

Bob Hannagan probably will do the punting for the St. Louis team in tomorrow's game. Bob's long kicks yesterday thrilled the spectators. Time and again he sent the ball spiraling through the air for 50 yards, and once it cleared the heads of the retrievers and traveled 85 yards, including the roll. As the Bears also have a remarkable kicker in Hannagan, former Indiana star, the punting duel that will develop tomorrow will be interesting.

Earl Britton's Debut.

The contest tomorrow, besides marking Grange's first appearance in St. Louis, also will provide the setting for the professional debut of Earl Britton, brilliant Illinois fullback and Grange's running mate during his collegiate gridiron days. Britton has been given much of the credit for Grange's great record and it is expected that Britton's aid may enable Red to make his first touchdown since he turned professional.

St. Louis U. Is After Full-Time Athletics Head

Billiken Officials Said to Be in Touch With Ex-Notre Dame Star.

By John H. Alexander.

St. Louis University is in the market for a high class football coach and a full time athletic director to fill the vacancy left by the resignation of Dan Savage, who has acted in this capacity for the past three years. It was intimated yesterday.

It was believed, following the board's acceptance of Savage's resignation Sunday, that Harvey Brown, former Notre Dame star and Savage's assistant, would jump into his superior's shoes but Brown's studies as a junior medical student will probably prevent his appointment to the job, which makes heavy demands upon the incumbent's time.

Many Billiken followers are urging the athletic board to sign up a Notre Dame graduate with backfield experience to pair up with Brown, a line expert, so that the football team would be guided entirely by the light of the Rockne genius. The successes of Roger Kiley at Loyola in Chicago and "Gus" Dorais at Gonzaga and Detroit are pointed out as instances of the feasibility of signing a Rockne pupil.

With this included among their plans, the Billiken officials are establishing communication with one of the members of the famous "Four Horsemen" combination which was the sensation of the 1924 season and another Notre Dame graduate now with a Western university.

The 1926 football schedule is being held up until after envoys have signed up several feature games with either Missouri Valley or Big Ten teams. H. J. McMahon, president of the athletic board, will attend the Big Ten meeting at Chicago this week and the school will also be represented at the Valley gathering here Friday and Saturday.

Firpo Hopes to Obtain Another Bout for Title

"Wild Bull" Plans to Go to London to Fight Next March.

By the Associated Press.

BUENOS AIRES, Dec. 1. — Louis Angel Firpo, the Argentine heavy-weight champion, is about to stage a return to the pugilistic arena in the United States. "I will go back to the United States and re-enter the boxing game, ready to fight any adversary who may present himself, until I have once more clinched a bout with Jack Dempsey," said Firpo.

Many times since he was beaten by Dempsey at the Polo Grounds in New York, Firpo has said he is not convinced that Dempsey is a better man than he. "The brave bull of the Pampas," as Firpo is known here, has utilized much of his time in selling American automobiles and accessories. Just now he is engaged in portraying the hero in a motion picture which is being filmed in Buenos Aires. His business activities have kept him so busy that he has reflected all offers to fight, notwithstanding tempting purses.

Word from Los Angeles is that Jack Dempsey is willing to give Firpo another fight, with Los Angeles as the battleground. Dempsey said the fight could take place before he meets Harry Wills in July. The champion added that he was ready to meet Firpo or any other opponent, as he felt that perhaps the public desired him to fight more frequently. A match in Los Angeles could be for 10 rounds with a decision or 12 rounds without a decision.

It probably will be the only team picked in which three nationally-known coaches will get together to compare players from various parts of the country.

Jones, as coach of Yale, has seen many of the Eastern stars in action; Rockne, through his connection at Notre Dame, has seen the stars of the middle West, and Warner, head coach at Leland Stanford, has seen the Pacific Coast players in action.

In selecting the team, Jones, Rockne and Warner will pick from no fewer than 1000 players in all sections of the country.

La Follette's record as a legislator is well known, but it is his constitutional inhibitions that have made him a controversial figure. He has been accused of being too radical, too idealistic, too impractical.

MEDALS AND CASH FOR BRAVE ACTS BY TELEPHONE WORKERS

Sticking to Posts in Flood Won Reward for Some; One Woman Trapped in Hoboken.

By the Associated Press. NEW YORK, Dec. 3.—Award of one gold medal, with a cash bonus of $500, and six silver medals, with cash bonuses of $250 each, to employees of the American Telephone and Telegraph Co. for "noteworthy public service" during 1934 are announced by trustees of the Theodore N. Vail Memorial Fund, donor of the awards.

The recipients of the awards included: Gold medal, Anna L. Lennan, chief operator of the Chesapeake & Potomac Telephone Co., who kept the lines open during the Chesapeake flood.

Lloyd M. Atkins, combination man of the Chesapeake & Potomac Telephone Co. at Piedmont, W. Va.; Hubert Harris, line foreman of the Bell Telephone Co. at Washington, D. C., who kept the lines open during the flood in March, 1924.

Refusing to listen to the entreaties of his family, and even disregarding the commands of his superiors, Miss Lennan insisted on crossing a dangerous bridge over a swollen stream, and then, with two other operators, remaining in the telephone exchange, cut off by water many feet deep, notifying families in danger.

Atkins' heroism was in the same flood. While Miss Lennan and her companions were at work in the telephone exchange, Atkins was busy in the vicinity, rescuing property and maintaining the emergency power plant.

Harris, by quick work, put out a fire on a telephone pole and prevented serious interruption of service.

Mrs. Smith learned of an attempted robbery of a postoffice, kept track of the movements of the robbers and notified Cincinnati police, who caught the criminals.

THINKS FRANCE NEEDS CHRISTIAN CONQUEST

The Rev. Roy A. Welker Pleads With Preachers Here for Unshriven Masses.

The Rev. Roy A. Welker, speaking before the Ministerial Alliance luncheon yesterday at Centenary Methodist Church, Sixteenth and Pine streets, made a plea to ministers of America to renew their efforts to bring the religious support of this country to the aid of countries of Europe. For the past five years the Rev. Mr. Welker has been directing the Ecole Payer de Champfleury, a Protestant mission school eight miles west of Paris.

"Protestant missions in France have only $24,000 in their treasuries at present," he said. "The spiritual problem of France is not Roman Catholicism versus Protestantism, but the enlistment of men and women of greater vision and greater social training, the pledging of millions of dollars to train these men and women, and to build institutions to care for the great unshriven masses."

That 75 per cent of the babies born in Versailles before July 1 of every year, are dead before December, and that out of the 39,000,000 people living in France only 6,000,000 have church affiliations, were evidence, the speaker cited as indicating the need France has at the present for Christian conquest.

"You are kept on the streets of history," he told his audience of ministers. "Don't let a squabble with the organist, or a matter of salary cause you to falter in your work."

The Rev. Mr. Welker is on a furlough of several months, during which time she will address meetings in a number of Southern Methodist churches.

Preceding the Rev. Mr. Welker, Dr. E. R. Cockrell, president of William Woods College, Fulton, Mo., spoke on "The Soul of the City." It was a talk supporting the theory that not all great men have come from the country.

As against the fact that 100 years ago, 87 per cent of the population lived in the country, he pointed out that the last census showed over one half of the country's population to be city-borne.

"It is from the cities that the great men of our country will come in the future." This is inevitable because of the better educational facilities found in cities, he said.

Charles Nicks, 39 years old, of St. Louis, a railroad switchman, was arrested last night by East St. Louis police at 715 State street, on a charge of bigamy.

At the time of his arrest he was visiting his second wife, who, before her marriage at Belleville, Oct. 19, was Miss Nettie Grant, 19-year-old daughter of Mrs. Martha Bauer, of the State street address. Mrs. Bauer learned Nicks had not obtained annulment of his marriage to his first wife. She is in the Alton State Hospital for the Insane.

FARM LEADERSHIP TROPHY WON BY OKLAHOMA GIRL, 18

Frances Smith of Goary County Declared Champion of 600,000 Youngsters in U. S.

By the Associated Press. CHICAGO, Dec. 3.—Frances Smith, 18-year-old high school girl of Goary, Ok., has been picked from the youth of the American farms as the one who in 1934 displayed the greatest qualities of leadership in home, club and community life. She was selected from among 600,000 farm children, and will be awarded a huge silver loving cup at a dinner tonight, which will be attended by 1200 boys and girls, delegates to the fourth annual Congress on Boys' and Girls' Club Work, in progress in connection with the International Livestock Exposition.

"Since Frances Smith became a club member, seven years ago, the products of her hoe and needle have taken 102 first prizes, and have placed 278 times in addition to $478.25 in premium awards, all at county, state and national fairs," said G. L. Noble, executive secretary of the National Congress on Boys' and Girls' Club Work. "A profit of $2300 has come to her by the sale of produce she raised herself."

"She is about to enter Oklahoma A. & M. College on a scholarship awarded to her for her all-around ability."

MILDRED BARBOUR

CHAPTER XXVIII FURTHER PERPLEXITIES

FOR a few minutes after she had regained consciousness, the sick woman did not notice Sue. Her dark, haggard eyes moved slowly about the room as if she sought to place herself in new and strange surroundings.

Then they turned to Sue, who was half afraid of what the shock might do if the woman should recognize her.

For a long moment the woman stared at her in a half-puzzled fashion, then recognition dawned slowly; she gave a little half-gasp, her eyes closed again, and her body relaxed in a faint.

Sue was terrified.

She tried to force a bit of the tepid water between the woman's pale lips, and she rubbed the limp wrists with trembling, hurried fingers.

After awhile the shadowed eyes opened again.

In a weak voice, and with gaps between each word, as if the effort to speak was almost more than she could summon, the sick woman said:

"You—have—found—"

"Sah," Sue said her hand soothingly on the other's brow. "Don't worry, it's quite all right."

"You know, who I am—"

Sue shook her head.

"I know about the necklace, if that's what you mean. I kept your bag for a long time, hoping that you would find some way to claim it; then I saw the advertisement in the paper and I returned the necklace to the jeweler."

"But you know what I am," the woman persisted weakly.

"That does not matter. I'm sorry for you. I won't tell and I will do what I can to help you."

"Does she know—the girl who comes here and does everything for me?"

"You mean Joan—Miss Blanchard?" No, and I shan't tell her."

The woman was silent for a moment.

"Who are you?" she asked finally in a whisper, "and how did you get here?"

"I am Joan's cousin; she brought me here. Please don't fear me. Whatever your secret is, you are quite safe as far as I am concerned."

The dark eyes regarded her fixedly; they searched for reassurance.

"You look good and kind, I saw that on the train, and I don't deserve pity, because I took advantage of you. When I gave you my bag, I passed a lot of trouble on to you; you might have had to pay dearly."

"Let's not talk about it. I'm sure it is bad for you to waste your strength trying to speak, but will you tell me one thing, what has a woman named Corinne de Verne to do with you?"

The sick woman looked at her silently for a moment; then she closed her eyes, and her body relaxed again.

Sue knew that she was only feigning; her pretense of fainting was to avoid an answer to Sue's question.

Sue did not persist, for she had learned enough to know that her guesses had not been wild when she identified the handwriting of Corinne de Verne in the letter she found in the bag.

When Joan came a few minutes later, with the doctor, Sue was sitting beside the woman, applying a wet handkerchief to her head. She could scarcely blame Joan for not having confidence in the doctor. He was a strange-looking person, dark and swarthy, with a German, with drooping eyelids which she did not like, and untidy in his personal appearance. He gave Sue a boldly appraising look, which roused in her an unaccountable resentment.

She slipped away, and waited for Joan outside the door of the flat. While she remained there, several of the men who had seen in the kitchen passed her with furtive glances, and ran hastily downstairs.

Joan came finally, and they returned together to the settlement house.

"The doctor thinks he can help that poor creature," Joan told her; "but I feel a terrific responsibility."

Tony was waiting for them, and he brushed aside all Sue's protests that she must return to Jerry MacDonald's studio and finish the pose she promised.

She realized the importance of not offending Tony at this stage of her game, and she yielded gracefully.

They lunched at the Ritz, where Josephine came across them finally as they lingered over their coffee. Josephine had a new man in tow, and she flaunted him recklessly before Tony's eyes.

CHAPTER XXIX PANIC

SUE stood in the morning sunshine by the front gates, waiting for the postman.

He came leisurely in a quaint little vehicle used by the postal service of Long Island, Josephine behind a fat, semicircular horse and preceded by a friendly cur, who made joyous excursions through the wayward gardens while his master stopped to deliver the mail.

Sue had gotten to know the postman rather well; he was a freckled youth with an engaging grin, and he had the air of one who was personally responsible for bringing ogetic when there were no letters to deliver; but on this particular morning he seemed particularly pleased with himself when he handed Sue a sheaf of envelopes which from their size and shape were undoubtedly social invitations. Little by little, as the weeks went by since the announcement of Sue's engagement to Alvin Teall, mail addressed to the Sundial had increased. Sue had a little laugh to herself about it, but always in the back of her head was a slight misgiving, especially since she had encountered the man next door who looked so startlingly like the photograph of her imaginary fiancé.

As she took the letters from the postman, another that he had sorted and held in his hand for the next delivery dropped on the step of the car. It was nearer to her than to him and she picked it up to hand back to him. Her eye involuntarily noted the address, and she became suddenly motionless, rooted with horror.

The letter was addressed to Alvin Teall, Esq.

With her brain quite numb and incapable of coherent thought, she handed it back to the postman, who took it and drove off with a friendly "So long. Maybe you'll bring you a nice letter from your beau tomorrow."

She smiled with an effort and wiped her hand, but she did not move until she had seen him stop at the gate of the place next door, and drop the letter with some other in a quaint little stone mail box.

Then very slowly she went back through the garden, her brain whirling with the terrific significance of her discovery.

She heard a pleasant voice call, "Good morning," and glancing up, ascertained that it came from the other side of the hedge that separated the Blanchards' garden from the mysterious place next door.

Philosophical Phrasings

A thankful heart is not only the greatest virtue, but the parent of all the other virtues.—Cicero.

Where there are laws, he who has not broken them need not tremble.—Aldieri.

Eloquence is to the sublime what the whole is to its part.

—LA Bruyere.

That man scorchers with his brightness and overpowers inferior capacities, yet he shall be revered when dead.—Horace.

He who has injured thee was either stronger or weaker. If weaker, spare him; if stronger, spare thyself.—Seneca.

If our inward griefs were seen on our brows, how many would be pitted who are now envied!

—Metastasio.

It is said that the thing you possess is worth more than two you may have in the future. The one is sure and the other is not.—La

In something of a panic, she saw the man she had met on that memorable morning sauntering down the drive. He carelessly raised his hand in greeting and then strolled to the hedge.

"Good morning, Miss Wood-

symp. Why have you avoided my garden?"

She searched about for an answer, and found herself flushing and tongue-tied, much to her own chagrin.

He was smiling that easy, careless smile that had infuriated her before, and she thought him disturbingly good-looking in the morning sunlight, with his dark, smooth hair, and well-bronzed face and throat.

He glanced down at her trimly shod feet and said with twinkling eyes:

"Both shoes this morning, I see. No chance for me to play the prince to Cinderella. I say, that was a clever story. How did you happen to think of it on the spur of the moment?"

She found her tongue at last and said with an effort at lofty dignity:

"I don't believe it would interest you."

"Of course not—not in the least," he agreed carelessly.

She bit her lip vexedly; it infuriated her because this man, this casual and unknown person of all the men she had known had the power to rouse her anger.

She turned to go, giving him a cool little nod over her shoulder, but he stopped her.

"I want to tell you one thing. You are a most unusual girl. So far I can ascertain, you have kept your promise, and have not told people about this place being occupied."

"Why should I tell? It does not interest me in the least," she threw back at him.

He laughed with amusement; it was a mellow, pleasant laugh which she thought might be very attractive under other circumstances, but she was quite convinced now that she loathed him.

She went back through the garden, reflexly, fully conscious that he watched her with those keen, appraising eyes of his.

After a little while, as she sat on the terrace waiting for breakfast, her angry resentment gave way before the chill, numbing fear of what would happen when Alvin Teall learned, as he undoubtedly would, the ridiculous story she had told about being engaged to him.

How long, she wondered, could he possibly remain in ignorance; and when the inevitable catastrophe occurred, what could she do or say?

HOUSEHOLD SUGGESTIONS

Keeps Them White.

A tablespoon of white vinegar added to the water when rinsing white silk frocks or hose will help greatly to keep the pure color.

A Real Blue.

When dyeing cotton goods a dark blue, buy a package of black dye and add half of it to the blue dye when mixing. It will result in a much more successful dark blue.

Sensible Shelves.

If shelves are necessary in your kitchen, have them placed low enough to be within easy reach. Then useless things will not be placed there and allowed to remain.

The Circular Floor.

So many of the new dresses have circular flounces and grooves in them and they must be handled carefully if you want them to fit well. Never stretch a circular section around you to see if it seems to be the right size, and try to sew it into position as soon as possible after it has been cut out. If that inside circle stretches it will ruin the shape of the garment, no matter where the circular section is to be applied.

They Can't Win, Not Against This Plotter -O-

THE little old "piece" that made school children sway back and forth under the hypothesis of its sing-song rhyme when they stood up in their white China silk and pale-blue ribbons to "speak" it, said that it was the Goblins that would get you "if you didn't watch out." That was true then in our very little, baby Youth perhaps, true to some little bits of things that had been allowed to fear the night and dark.

But when you are seventeen-going-on-eighteen; when you are twenty-three-going-on-twenty-four; when you are twenty-nine-going-on-thirty; when you are forty-five-going-on-forty-one-forty-six-forty-seven-forty-eight-forty-nine-fifty; it seems to be that person that you always have to look for so much of the time when you come upon a bit of trouble—not a goblin but Love!

Somewhere in the snarl is the laughing and weeping, grying and coaxing, little god of Love, the son of the sea-born lady who is always looking for him and always finding him among the girls!

Everyone knows this very well, and you hear and read a lot of railing at him from those who have fallen into the broth with him; those that never fell in but would like to and are afraid to; and those who shut their eyes tight when they see him coming because they don't believe that there is such a fellow and they are determined to keep on not believing in him and bachelorettes.

But THEY can't bolly crew that means to sidestep him until some day are good and ready to come in. For I believe that every single soul at least once by the time the goblins begin to drift faintly on their heels.

If you are young, then you'll hardly make the bachelorettes, and I'm pleased to lay for you. For then he double himself as he likes like a wizard, and it's all up with YOU!

KINSHIP.

SOME men are kin to shadows and they travel all the way within the edge of shadowland, where sunbeams never stray; no birds are ever singing in that country's fields and woods and all who wander there awhile forget song's joyous moods. But others woo the sunlight till it enters heart and soul they always choose some sunlit crest and take it for their goal, no trifling cares can vex them and make wearisome their days, with lives attuned to happiness they find the brighter way. As water seeks its level, so does he to like respond and thus, while some see but the cloud, some sense the sun beyond. For kindred call to kindred through the deeps of time and space and lives attuned to happiness must seek the light's embrace.

FRUIT SWEETS FOR HOLIDAYS

By HANNAH WING

FRUIT-SWEETS ARE BECOMING MORE AND MORE POPULAR, PARTLY BECAUSE THEY ARE PARTICULARLY WHOLESOME AND PARTLY BECAUSE THEY HAVE MORE VARIETY OF FLAVOR THAN THE CONCENTRATED SWEET OF ALL SUGAR CANDIES AND ARE INTERESTING IN SHAPE AND COLOR.

Spiced fruit sweets are particularly nice as an after-dinner sweet. One-half cup seeded or unseeded raisins, three-quarter cup sugar, three-quarter cup water, one-half teaspoon cinnamon, one-eighth teaspoon nutmeg, one-quarter tea-

Pick the raisins over carefully, removing stems. Put the sugar, water and spices into a saucepan and cook, stirring until the sugar is dissolved. Continue cooking without stirring, until the temperature 235 degrees F. is reached. Add raisins and cook slowly for about seven minutes, stirring only enough to separate the raisins and keep the syrup from scorching.

Remove from the fire. Set into a pan of hot water. Take a few

Children's Bedtime Story

By Thornton W. Burgess

Peter Waits in Vain

Bad luck some day will surely break
For those who foolish chances take.

—Paddy the Beaver.

PADDY believes that little saying. His mother taught it to him. She got it from her mother. It has been known and believed in the Beaver family
for years and years and years.
That is how it happens that there are Beavers today to believe it.
Believing it has made Paddy the Beaver and his family very cautious. They seldom are heedless, as is Peter Rabbit. They know exactly when and how and where they are safe, and at all times
they take the greatest pains not to run unnecessary risks.

Peter Rabbit, having discovered
the beginning of a new dam in the sloping swamp down the Laughing Brook some distance below the pond of Paddy the Beaver, was greatly excited. All that day as he sat in the dear Old Briarpatch
he thought about it between naps.
He could hardly wait for the coming of the Black Shadows from the Purple Hills that evening, so anxious was he to get back to the Green Forest and over to that new dam. He had a lot of questions to ask—why that dam was being built there; why Paddy didn't build nearer that grove of poplar trees Peter had shown him; and so on. So just as soon as he felt that it was safe for him to do so,
Peter scampered, hipity-hipityup, over to the Green Forest and straight to that alder swamp. He found the beginning of that dam
just as he had left it early that morning.

"Paddy and his family will get here early so as to get in a good night's work," said Peter to himself as he settled himself to wait.
"I'll just wait here until they come. It will be fun to watch them build that dam. My, I'm glad I don't have to work like that for my living! It fairly makes me ache just to think of all the cutting and hauling of sticks and bringing of mud that must be done just to build this dam. Those Beavers like work better than I do.

As he looked at these footprints
Peter felt his back hair slowly
stand on end.

Yes, sir, they do so. I hope they will come soon."

But they didn't come soon.
Peter waited and waited and waited, and his patience grew less and less. Gentle Mistress Moon came up and sent her soft light all through the Green Forest and made the alder swamp almost as light as by day. Peter grew hungry. He grew hungrier. Still he waited. At last his stomach insisted that he should put something in it. Peter hurried away and got a lunch. Then he hurried back. On his way he happened to glance down at a muddy place, a place where the mud was fairly soft. In the middle of that mudy place were two footprints. They were almost round and they were quite big.

As he looked at those footprints
Peter felt his back hair slowly
stand on end. There was no doubt as to whose footprints those were. Yowler the Bob Cat had made them. Yowler had made them not so very long before.
Peter looked all about hastily and anxiously. Then he hurried. My, how he did hurry! He hurried straight to a certain hollow log with an opening in one end just big enough for him to slip through. In front of this he sat down. It was near enough to the beginning of that new dam for him to see it. He felt safe now with that hollow log at his back.
His hair once more lay down.

As before, Peter waited and waited. He waited most of the night. But not a Beaver did he see or hear. "It must be that they have decided that it will be too much work to build a dam
here," said Peter, talking to himself for lack of any one else to talk to. "That must be it. If it were not for Yowler the Bob Cat
being about I would run up to Paddy's pond and see what is going on up there. I wonder why they have stopped work on this dam."

But with all his wondering it didn't once occur to Peter that Paddy the Beaver might have seen those big round footprints in the mud. This is just what had happened, and Paddy had at once suspected that Yowler the Bob Cat had discovered what was going on in the alder swamp and was hiding somewhere in there hoping to catch a Beaver for dinner. So Paddy at once turned about and returned to his pond.
Of course, Mrs. Paddy and the two young Beavers did the same thing.

Anthony J. Drexel, the Banking Giant

I N the realm of banking Anthony Joseph Drexel was a giant. At the age of 13, even before he had finished his studies, he entered upon his career, which was to make him the wealthiest man of his day in Pennsylvania.
His banking house in Philadelphia
for half a century had a larger capital than all the banks of that city combined.

The founder of the American
house of Drexel came from Austria
at the time Napoleon invaded that country. He settled in Philadelphia and married. But Francis M. Drexel, seized with the wanderlust, lived in South America and in Mexico for several years, following his profession as portrait painter.
Realizing that his two sons, Anthony J. and Francis A., must have business opportunities, he returned to Philadelphia and opened the brokerage office of Drexel & Sagger in 1838.

In 1871 J. P. Morgan joined the Drexels, and the firm expanded under the name of Drexel, Morgan & Co., with branch houses in London and Paris, and their financial operations extended all over the world.
The Drexel houses have supplied and placed hundreds of millions of dollars of securities with the public.

After Morgan withdrew from the firm, Drexel continued to give support and share in all his vast transactions.

Anthony J. Drexel was born in 1826 in Philadelphia. The brothers were generous with their millions, founding many charitable institutions. They contributed largely to

Where Skin Defects Show First How to Stop Them

Now there is an Amazing New Way to Banish Skin Defects and Age Signs. A Magic New Tonic Face Powder Renews Skin
Youth and Beauty, Healing Pimples, Closing Enlarged Pores, and Correcting Oily Skin. Even Blackheads Disappear.

DON'T let skin defects give you the appearance of early age. A famous French Expert has just discovered that certain imported ingredients have a tonic effect on the skin, renewing skin youth and bringing back the soft, alluring color of childhood.

These tonic ingredients have been powdered and mixed with a soft, fine face powder which is both healing and soothing. It heals pimples, corrects oily skin and roughness and closes enlarged pores. Even blackheads disappear.

This tonic powder is marvelously adhesive—it clings until you wash it off. Yet it is not absorbed by the skin (blackheads are often caused by the pores absorbing inferior powders). Use this almost magic powder and your skin will grow young again—pimples, blackheads, oily skin, enlarged pores and skin defects will disappear. Get a 75c box
